Dag Rejects Jordan Plea On Jet Count

Sympathizes, But Feels Incident Does Not Endanger Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold has turned down appeals by Jordan to bring before the Security Council charges that Syrian jets jumped King Hussein's vacation-bound plane and chased it back across the Jordanian frontier, it was reported today.

Hammarskjold is said to have told Amman that he sympathized with its plaint, but felt the incident last Monday was an isolated one that did not endanger Middle East peace.

U. N. officials have pointed out that Jordan did not ask Hammarskjold's special representative in Amman, Pier Spinelli, to get clearance from the United Arab Republic for Hussein's fight. Thus they felt it is not up to the secretary general, but Jordan herself to seek any Security Council action. Officials in Damascus and Cairo have asserted they did not know Hussein was aboard the plane.

Since he undertook his Middle East peace mission in the wake of last summer's crisis over Iraq, Lebanon and Jordan, Hammarskjold has been trying doggedly to screen out isolated incidents that would touch off another bitter U.N. debate and revive the whole dispute.

Diplomats wondered how long he can keep his finger in the dike. They believe that Jordan, embroiled in a mounting exchange of insults with Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic probably will bring the Hussein incident before the U.N. if it thinks it can establish a strong case.

The Soviet Tass agency said the plan was submitted to the Geneva conference on ending nuclear tests.

It added that the draft consists of five articles saying:

1. The governments of the three great powers solemnly undertake to conduct no tests of any type of nuclear weapons after the agreement is signed.

2. They undertake to contribute toward adoption of similar commitments by other states.

3. Parties to the agreement shall set up control machinery with a network of control posts.

4. The governments of the great powers agree to the establishment of control posts on their territories.

5. There shall be no time limit to the proposed agreement.

Khrushchev Pledges No Fight Over Berlin

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev says he does not intend to fight the West for Berlin and is preparing formal proposals on the future status of the city.

The Soviet Premier chose a Kremlin reception for graduates of military schools to make these statements. He also twice suggested that U.S. Secretary of State Dulles "cool off" over Berlin.

Noting that Dulles had indicated the United States would resist by force any attempt to change the status of Berlin, Khrushchev said Dulles frequently appeals to God in his statements and added:

U.S. Army To Test Red Chief On Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. Army is expected soon to move another truck convoy in a test of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's intentions concerning his demands for the West to quit Berlin.

Russian soldiers Friday blocked a routine three-truck Army convoy seeking to cross Communist East Germany to West Germany and held it for 8½ hours. The Army said the Russians broke established procedures by making unacceptable demands to inspect the trucks.

Council Waits Proposal For City Cutbacks

Mayor And Director To Suggest Changes Forced By Tax Loss

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence and Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti are scheduled to make recommendations to Council Monday night on what cutbacks they feel should be made in personnel and city services as a result of the revenue loss caused by repeal of the municipal income tax at the polls Nov. 4.

A summary of the city's financial outlook presented to the administration and Council last Monday has been under study since by the mayor and director. The administration leaders agreed to present their recommendations at the meeting next Monday.

The mayor said Friday he will present a report, but did not indicate what it will contain.

He said: "We will have a report with recommendations based on the meeting with Council last Monday. We will recommend what we suggest be done on lay - offs or retaining personnel and what we think should be done about retaining the 10 per cent wage increase."

At the session last Monday, the general feeling of the councilmen appeared to be that the city should lay off by Jan. 1 all 26 municipal employes who were added as a result of the collection of the income tax that started May 1. However, the councilmen indicated they would favor an attempt to retain 10 per cent wage increases for the remaining workers.

The raise, first since 1952, also was voted out of income tax revenue.

The summary drawn up a week ago indicated the city can expect to end 1958 with a favorable balance of approximately $16,000, even if all present employes are retained and wages are not cut. However, payroll appropriations already have been made for the full year out of funds bolstered by income tax revenue.

No new legislation is scheduled for presentation at the session Monday, which starts at 8.

Final Reports Will Be Asked On 'Dead' Tax

Supervisor Frank Blakeley of the city income tax office said today final reports will be requested soon from business places and individuals whose income is not subject to withholding at the source as one of the steps in closing out collections.

Forms now are being prepared and they will go into the mail as soon as the supply is printed, Blakeley explained. It's part of the process of winding up affairs of the office as an aftermath of the repeal of the tax at the Nov. 4 election.

Blakeley explained that the tax "was legally in effect" for the period May 1-Nov. 12, inclusive. Individuals not subject to the withholding feature of the ordinance will be required to report for that period and businesses will report on their income and net profit over the same time, he explained.

Blakeley said he also has received questions from payroll departments charged with withholding the tax from employe earnings. They were concerned particularly on the effective date of the tax repeal, which has been determined to be Nov. 12, he explained.

As an example, Blakeley cited the case of an employer whose two-week payroll period started Nov. 3 and ends Nov. 15. The tax would be computed and withheld for the period Nov. 3-12, inclusive, but no tax would be held out for earnings from Nov. 13 through Nov. 15, he said.

Persons whose entire income is subject to withholding need not file final reports. The employer's report is sufficient.

Blaze Forces Residents Out Of Apartments

Fire Hits Basement Of Law Offices In W. 6th St. Building

A major fire in the Rapport Building on W. 6th St. was narrowly averted Friday when a blaze broke out in the basement of Atty. Paul Tobin's law office, forcing residents of upstairs apartments to flee and filling offices with smoke.

It was the second blaze in the block within a week.

The fire apparently had smouldered in old legal records for sometime before it was discovered about 7:45 p. m., firemen said.

The cause hasn't been determined but firemen said it may have been from a furnace, which is to be checked today, or by a rat which might have carried a match into the basement. A dead rodent was found in the basement, witnesses said.

Some legal records were destroyed, the basement floor scorched and phone line melted, firemen said.

Because of the dense smoke, firemen had to use Scott Air-Paks to enter the basement. The smoke filled the law office, Board of Elections office and Greenawalt Insurance Co. office.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the election board, rushed to the office when informed of the blaze, prepared to remove records. They included ballots brought to the board's office two hours earlier from Lisbon that are to be recounted Thursday, he said.

Chief Charles Bryan commended policemen for entering the smoke - filled upstairs to evavuate residents. "They did a good job

Woman Gives Court Reason Of Juror Call

"I am very sorry," Miss Anna Vitalune of Lisbon told Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Friday in Common Pleas Court in a voluntary statement concerning her telephone call to a juror in the current police burglary trial.

Miss Vitalune, 126 N. Beaver St., told Judge Buzzard she did not realize she was violating any court regulations in talking to a juror about the trial when she phoned Mrs. Mable Stuckey of Lisbon Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Stuckey is a member of the panel in the burglary trial of Ira Cunningham and Robert Carroll, former policemen, and Jerry Raimond, ex-special officer.

Miss Vitalune approached Judge Buzzard yesterday morning before the trial resumed, and asked to explain her conversation to him. He advised her that she was welcome to do so at recess at noon, but said an investigation will be held on the subject when the trial is over.

The trial was continued yesterday until Monday because a prosecution witness—Richey Wallace of Toronto—had not appeared to testify as scheduled. Authorities at Lisbon today reported the jeweler and pawnbroker had not yet returned to his home or had been located elsewhere.

Miss Vitalune told Judge Buzzard she had phoned Mrs. Stuckey to learn about some details of the trial, chiefly concerning some reported religious prejudice in selecting jurors.

Judge Buzzard asked, "Did you say to Mrs. Stuckey 'I don't think they're guilty, do you?' " Miss Vitalune said "yes."

Miss Vitalune said Cunningham had been to her family's home last week to discuss the prospective jurors in the trial which began Monday. It was explained in court Wednesday both the defense and prosecution are permitted to learn various facts about members of the venire, but it is not permissible to question the venire or the seated jury about aspects of the trial.

Judge Buzzard reiterated his statement that an investigation of the phone conversation will be conducted in court following completion of the current trial. He told Miss Vitalune the call was improper, whether she realized it or not.

Miss Vitalune, who said she worked at the City Hall in East Liverpool about 18 years ago, told Judge Buzzard she had a misconception about her belief concerning possible religious discrimination in the jury selection and apologized.

Martial Law To Be Set Up In Argentina

Vice President Holds To Office Despite Angry Mob Attack

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Vice President Alejandro Gomez held on to his office today despite an angry mob attack, and the government set machinery in motion to declare martial law.

Gomez appealed by telegram to President Arturo Frondizi, whom he is accused of trying to unseat, for police protection for himself and family Friday night after a crowd of about 100 young men and girls broke into his office shouting "resign, traitor."

Gomez was in an inner office at the time making a recording for a radio broadcast, but friends kept the attackers at bay until he could escape into another room.

The mob smashed into the outer office with clubs and stormed about for 30 minutes, wrecking furniture, breaking windows and destroying papers before some senators persuaded them to leave.

Gomez appealed to police for protection when the attack began but was told to seek help from the Interior Ministry which supervises police. Later police threw a guard around the Gomez home and announced extra police would be on duty at the Senate today to prevent any more trouble.

Military guards with machine guns were increased at Government House and at strategic points.

Five Killed In Collision Of Car, Train

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP)—Five bodies were found in and around the wreckage of a car today after it collided with a passenger train shortly before midnight. One person in the car escaped death.

The train, Pennsylvania Railroad's crack St. Louisian, was headed for Columbus after making a stop in Steubenville. The car was going west on a Coshocton County road.

Occupants of the car had left a nearby tavern a few minutes before, the sheriff's office said. The dead, all of whom were in the car, are identified as:

Mrs. Margaret Stiteler, 35; Miss Josephine Stiteler, 18; Miss Phyllis Holder, about 17; all of Coshocton, Mrs. Bonnie Grace, 29, Rt. 5, Coshocton, and Carl Ames, 22, of Fresno in Coshocton County.

A sixth occupant, Jerry Clough, 23, of Coshocton, was found later in Memorial Hospital here, the sheriff's office said.

Jewelry Clerk Gets Subpoena

Toronto Man Sought For Trial At Lisbon

Richey Wallace, Toronto jeweler and pawnbroker, remained "missing" today but his office worker has been subpoenaed to testify when the police burglary trial resumes Monday morning at Lisbon.

Wallace is being sought as a prosecution witness in the trial of Ira Cunningham and Robert Carroll, former police officers, and Jerry Raimond, ex-special officer, charged with the 1952 burglary of the Burbick Hardware store.

He is needed to confirm that he bought loot taken in the burglary.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Friday granted the continuance. Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said today Mary Ann Timko, an office girl at Wallace's jewelry store, has been subpoenaed.

Jefferson County authorities also are aiding in the search for Wallace.

Pilot Safe, Others Hunted

8 Fliers Abandon Crippled U.S. Transport Over Utah

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Rescue parties spread out over a vast area of snow-swept northeastern Utah today in search of seven lightly clad airmen who bailed out of a disabled C119 transport plane.

The pilot, Capt. Harry O. Blount of Clearfield, Utah, was found early today, eight hours after he and his crew parachuted to the ground.

Other crew members were still missing.

Blount said the men jumped out at 10-mile intervals between Ft. Bridger, Wyo., and Huntsville, Utah, just east of here. He told Weber County Dep. Sheriff Gerald Waymant he had the men jump at intervals because he was unfamiliar with the terrain.

Waymant said the missing men, trapped in an early-winter blizzard, could be "anywhere between here and Evanston, Wyo.," but Blount said later the men had left the plane within a five-minute period and he believed they would be found within a 10-mile radius of where he was found, about eight miles east of Huntsville.

Evanston is 50 airline miles east of Ogden.

Dep. Sheriff Blair Findlay said the area is extremely rugged and heavily timbered. He said the snow was about 18 inches deep and still falling.

Search officials doubted that search planes could be launched until the storm abated. They sent out a call for snowmobiles to aid in the ground search.

Reds Mark 85th Day Of Quemoy Shelling

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists opened the 85th day of the offshore artillery war with a light shelling of the Quemoys today.

The Communists announced Oct. 25 that they would shoot at any part of the Quemoy Island on odd days but on even days would withhold fire from the Quemoy landing beaches and airstrip. For the last seven even days, however, Red coastal batteries have remained silent.

Stricken In Spain At 45

Movie Star Tyrone Power Dies From Heart Attack

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Tyrone Power, 45, died today of a heart attack. The screen and stage star was stricken on a movie set, "Solomon and Sheba," in which he was playing opposite Italian actress Gina Lollobrigida.

Power complained, as he had been for several days, of a pain in his left arm and abdomen.

His wife of less than a year, the former Debbie Ann Mindardos, is expecting a baby in February.

Power had been married to French actress Annabella and to Linda Christian. Both marriages ended in divorce.

Shooting of the picture was halted by Director King Vidor until further notice. Extras and bit players, all Spaniards, dispersed quietly. All were stunned when told their star had died.

The veteran actor, who virtually abandoned Hollywood at the height of his movie fame, went back to the stage in 1952. He returned to Hollywood only for an occasional film.

While he maintained a home in Hollywood, he spent a great deal of his time in Mexico and Europe.

Power was one of the top money making stars in the movies in 1938, 1939 and 1940.

Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, May 5, 1913, he was the third in a line of actors named Tyrone Power. His great - grandfather was an Irish comedian and his father a Shakespearian actor. He took his first stage part at 7.

Council Waits Proposal For City Cutbacks

Mayor And Director To Suggest Changes Forced By Tax Loss

Mayor Fred P. Lawrence and Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti are scheduled to make recommendations to Council Monday night on what cutbacks they feel should be made in personnel and city services as a result of the revenue loss caused by repeal of the municipal income tax at the polls Nov. 4.

A summary of the city's financial outlook presented to the administration and Council last Monday has been under study since by the mayor and director. The administration leaders agreed to present their recommendations at the meeting next Monday.

The mayor said Friday he will present a report, but did not indicate what it will contain.

He said: "We will have a report with recommendations based on the meeting with Council last Monday. We will recommend what we suggest be done on lay - offs or retaining personnel and what we think should be done about retaining the 10 per cent wage increase."

Woman Gives Court Reason Of Juror Call

"I am very sorry," Miss Anna Vitalune of Lisbon told Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Friday in Common Pleas Court in a voluntary statement concerning her telephone call to a juror in the current police burglary trial.

Pilot Safe, Others Hunted

8 Fliers Abandon Crippled U.S. Transport Over Utah

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Rescue parties spread out over a vast area of snow-swept northeastern Utah today in search of seven lightly clad airmen who bailed out of a disabled C119 transport plane.

The pilot, Capt. Harry O. Blount of Clearfield, Utah, was found early today, eight hours after he and his crew parachuted to the ground.

Other crew members were still missing.

Blount said the men jumped out at 10-mile intervals between Ft. Bridger, Wyo., and Huntsville, Utah, just east of here. He told Weber County Dep. Sheriff Gerald Waymant he had the men jump at intervals because he was unfamiliar with the terrain.

Waymant said the missing men, trapped in an early-winter blizzard, could be "anywhere between here and Evanston, Wyo.," but Blount said later the men had left the plane within a five-minute period and he believed they would be found within a 10-mile radius of where he was found, about eight miles east of Huntsville.

Evanston is 50 airline miles east of Ogden.

Dep. Sheriff Blair Findlay said the area is extremely rugged and heavily timbered. He said the snow was about 18 inches deep and still falling.

Search officials doubted that search planes could be launched until the storm abated. They sent out a call for snowmobiles to aid in the ground search.

Reds Mark 85th Day Of Quemoy Shelling

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists opened the 85th day of the offshore artillery war with a light shelling of the Quemoys today.

The Chinese Nationalist defense ministry said the Reds fired 113 shells between 12:40 a.m. and noon of this odd-numbered day.

The Communists announced Oct. 25 that they would shoot at any part of the Quemoy Island on odd days but on even days would withhold fire from the Quemoy landing beaches and airstrip. For the last seven even days, however, Red coastal batteries have remained silent.

Stricken In Spain At 45

Movie Star Tyrone Power Dies From Heart Attack

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Tyrone Power, 45, died today of a heart attack. The screen and stage star was stricken on a movie set, "Solomon and Sheba," in which he was playing opposite Italian actress Gina Lollobrigida.

Power complained, as he had been for several days, of a pain in his left arm and abdomen.

His wife of less than a year, the former Debbie Ann Mindardos, is expecting a baby in February.

Power had been married to French actress Annabella and to Linda Christian. Both marriages ended in divorce.

Shooting of the picture was halted by Director King Vidor until further notice. Extras and bit players, all Spaniards, dispersed quietly. All were stunned when told their star had died.

The veteran actor, who virtually abandoned Hollywood at the height of his movie fame, went back to the stage in 1952. He returned to Hollywood only for an occasional film.

While he maintained a home in Hollywood, he spent a great deal of his time in Mexico and Europe.

Power was one of the top money making stars in the movies in 1938, 1939 and 1940.

Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, May 5, 1913, he was the third in a line of actors named Tyrone Power. His great - grandfather was an Irish comedian and his father a Shakespearian actor. He took his first stage part at 7.

Warm Weather's Time To Erect Yule Lighting

When the sun shines brightly and the temperature climbs into the high 60's — what better time to string outdoor Christmas lighting?

Fred Kane and George Fone, assistants to City Electrician Raymond L. Cowles, came to that conclusion at mid - week, so they worked Thursday and Friday stringing colored lights across the facade of City Hall.

They argued that the time to put up Christmas lights is when the sun is warm and the temperature's high — not when an icy gale is blowing and the mercury is dropping. The flat City Hall roof, where most of the work is done, is a chilly spot in a snow storm. Besides, the lights must be in place for late November, when the Christmas shopping season will open.

Sergeants Face Court Martial For Roughing Lisbon Marines

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)— General courts-martial have been ordered for three Parris Island Marine drill instructors accused of roughing up six Ohio trainees.

Two of the instructors also were charged with requiring recruits to kick in to a $690 payoff jackpot.

Charged in the case are S. Sgt. Ralph A. J. Grant of Racine, Wis.; Sgt. Ronald J. Heller of Milwaukee; and Sgt. Willard B. Poss of Augusta, Ga.

A spokesman at this Marine training center said Friday that the trials will be held in December. Grant's will be first. No exact dates were set.

Grant and Poss are accused of forcing 69 recruits to chip in $10 each for the sergeants.

Details of the case were made public after the recruits told their parents of their experiences. The young Marines graduated from recruit training here Sept. 23.

The trainees allegedly maltreated are:

Pvts. Raymond E. Theisler, Herbert E. Stevens, and Gerald T. Wardrop, all of Youngstown; William K. Hartman of Leavittsburg; Arthur L. Browne of Lisbon; and Pfc. Charles E. Weaver of Newton Falls.

All were members of the Steel Valley Platoon, recruited in the Youngstown - Warren, Ohio, area last June.

An investigation of the charges was conducted at Camp Lejeune, N. C., where the recruits are based for advanced training.

LISBON — Six district Marine recruits, including Rct. Arthur Browne, were involved in the Parris Island mistreatment case and their complaints to parents resulted in the investigation leading to the court martial step. The mistreatment charge apparently was preferred for Rct. Browne but the other five complained of $10 kickbacks.

Junior Red Cross Campaign To Begin In Schools Monday

The annual Junior Red Cross campaign will be launched among the schools Monday.

Mrs. F. D. Irwin, chairman of the East Liverpool Chapter's Junior Red Cross program, said the enrollment will be conducted next week in each of the local public schools, St. Aloysius Parochial School and Calcutta and Salineville Schools.

Junior activities include the gift box program, in which students in elementary and secondary schools prepare and send small colorful boxes filled with articles, ranging from toys to health items, to other lands for distribution to children. Last year, East Liverpool schools sent 180 boxes.

There is also the school correspondence program providing albums of drawings, photographs and essays showing the life and activities of the towns in which American children live. These are sent to schools abroad.

Locally, junior activities include classes in first aid, home nursing and water safety. Some 178 students in East Liverpool participated in these activities in 1958.

The local project is providing all first aid materials used by the schools. Mrs. Edna Jones, school nurse, supervises the purchase of the supplies.

No individual fee is required of the students. The pennies, nickels and dimes contributed make up the Junior Red Cross Service Fund.

"This program bands the nation's youth together to provide a variety of good citizenship building activities, in the community and on the national and international levels," Mrs. Irwin said.

To The People Of Columbiana County

I wish to express my most sincere gratitude for the support which was exhibited on November 4th at the polls. It was far beyond what a humble man could expect. The relization that I have received so much help from people that I have not personally had the priviledge to meet and shake hands with, made me stop and think that perhaps someone higher in authority than man also lent a helping hand.

I wish to take this opportunity to say that I will do my level best to carry out all the duties of the office.

During my term of office, I hope you will feel free to ask my assistance in any problem where I may help.

I take this opportunity to pay tribute to the retiring commissioners.

Sincerely,
FRANK C. WILSON

Warm Weather's Time To Erect Yule Lighting

When the sun shines brightly and the temperature climbs into the high 60's — what better time to string outdoor Christmas lighting?

Fred Kane and George Fone, assistants to City Electrician Raymond L. Cowles, came to that conclusion at mid - week, so they worked Thursday and Friday stringing colored lights across the facade of City Hall.

They argued that the time to put up Christmas lights is when the sun is warm and the temperature's high — not when an icy gale is blowing and the mercury is dropping. The flat City Hall roof, where most of the work is done, is a chilly spot in a snow storm. Besides, the lights must be in place for late November, when the Christmas shopping season will open.

Shooting Of Atlas Is Called Off Again

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A powerful Atlas missile sat poised in the open for several hours but the shot finally was called off early today for the second time in three days.

Sergeants Face Court Martial For Roughing Lisbon Marines

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—General courts-martial have been ordered for three Parris Island Marine drill instructors accused of roughing up six Ohio trainees.

Two of the instructors also were charged with requiring recruits to kick in to a $690 payoff jackpot.

Charged in the case are S. Sgt. Ralph A. J. Grant of Racine, Wis.; Sgt. Ronald J. Heller of Milwaukee; and Sgt. Willard B. Poss of Augusta, Ga.

A spokesman at this Marine training center said Friday that the trials will be held in December. Grant's will be first. No exact dates were set.

Grant and Poss are accused of forcing 69 recruits to chip in $10 each for the sergeants.

Details of the case were made public after the recruits told their parents of their experiences. The young Marines graduated from recruit training here Sept. 23.

The trainees allegedly maltreated are:

Pvts. Raymond E. Theisler, Herbert E. Stevens, and Gerald T. Wardrop, all of Youngstown; William K. Hartman of Leavittsburg; Arthur L. Browne of Lisbon; and Pfc. Charles E. Weaver of Newton Falls.

All were members of the Steel Valley Platoon, recruited in the Youngstown - Warren, Ohio, area last June.

An investigation of the charges was conducted at Camp Lejeune, N. C., where the recruits are based for advanced training.

LISBON — Six district Marine recruits, including Rct. Arthur Browne, were involved in the Parris Island mistreatment case and their complaints to parents resulted in the investigation leading to the court martial step. The mistreatment charge apparently was preferred for Rct. Browne but the other five complained of $10 kickbacks.

Junior Red Cross Campaign To Begin In Schools Monday

Mrs. F. D. Irwin, chairman of the East Liverpool Chapter's Junior Red Cross program, said the enrollment will be conducted next week in each of the local public schools, St. Aloysius Parochial School and Calcutta and Salineville Schools.

Junior activities include the gift box program, in which students in elementary and secondary schools prepare and send small colorful boxes filled with articles, ranging from toys to health items, to other lands for distribution to children. Last year, East Liverpool schools sent 180 boxes.

There is also the school correspondence program providing albums of drawings, photographs and essays showing the life and activities of the towns in which American children live. These are sent to schools abroad.

Locally, junior activities include classes in first aid, home nursing and water safety. Some 178 students in East Liverpool participated in these activities in 1958.

The local project is providing all first aid materials used by the schools. Mrs. Edna Jones, school nurse, supervises the purchase of the supplies.

No individual fee is required of the students. The pennies, nickels and dimes contributed make up the Junior Red Cross Service Fund.

"This program bands the nation's youth together to provide a variety of good citizenship building activities, in the community and on the national and international levels," Mrs. Irwin said.

To The People Of Columbiana County

I wish to express my most sincere gratitude for the support which was exhibited on November 4th at the polls. It was far beyond what a humble man could expect. The relization that I have received so much help from people that I have not personally had the priviledge to meet and shake hands with, made me stop and think that perhaps someone higher in authority than man also lent a helping hand.

I wish to take this opportunity to say that I will do my level best to carry out all the duties of the office.

During my term of office, I hope you will feel free to ask my assistance in any problem where I may help.

I take this opportunity to pay tribute to the retiring commissioners.

Sincerely,
FRANK C. WILSON

Woodbine 50th ANNIVERSARY

An Old Established Business Offering the Finest Modern Service

Woodbine Laundry was first founded as the Walker Brothers Laundry in 1908 on First Avenue in the East End. Growing in size, the laundry later moved to Walnut Street, operating under the name of The Buckeye Laundry.

In 1923 the Buckeye Laundry purchased their present laundry from the Fame Laundry of Indianopolis, located at 112 W. Fourth St., under the name Woodbine. This name derived from the vine growing on the building at that time has been retained throughout the years.

During this 50 year period the business has remained under the Walker family ownership. Keeping pace with the years and newer and more modern processes of laundrying and dry cleaning, Woodbine today offers outstanding services in both departments to residents of the Tri-State Area.

These two processes are now being done in two separate plants; where either laundry or dry cleaning can be dropped off and called for.

Using only the finest materials, machinery and workmanship, Woodbine is proud to offer the TRUCLEEN process of dry cleaning from the East End plant, located at 1197 Penna. Ave. Every modern laundry service is now available at the downtown plant located at 112 W. Fourth St. After the disastrous fire in 1949 Woodbine again rebuilt a newer, more modern laundry to give even finer service than before.

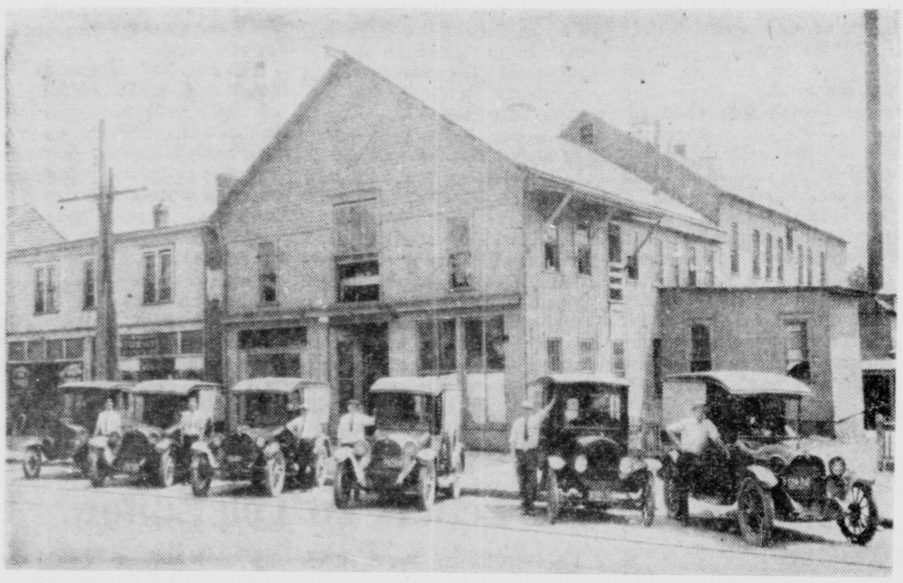
Woodbine 50th ANNIVERSARY

An Old Established Business Offering the Finest Modern Service



Woodbine Laundry was first founded as the Walker Brothers Laundry in 1908 on First Avenue in the East End. Growing in size, the laundry later moved to Walnut Street, operating under the name of The Buckeye Laundry.

In 1923 the Buckeye Laundry purchased their present laundry from the Fame Laundry of Indianopolis, located at 112 W. Fourth St., under the name Woodbine. This name derived from the vine growing on the building at that time has been retained throughout the years.

During this 50 year period the business has remained under the Walker family ownership. Keeping pace with the years and newer and more modern processes of laundrying and dry cleaning, Woodbine today offers outstanding services in both departments to residents of the Tri-State Area.

These two processes are now being done in two separate plants; where either laundry or dry cleaning can be dropped off and called for.

Using only the finest materials, machinery and workmanship, Woodbine is proud to offer the TRUCLEEN process of dry cleaning from the East End plant, located at 1197 Penna. Ave. Every modern laundry service is now available at the downtown plant located at 112 W. Fourth St. After the disastrous fire in 1949 Woodbine again rebuilt a newer, more modern laundry to give even finer service than before.

Always Room For An Opposition

Two conclusions about the Republican party's collapse in the 1958 election seem to be general:

1. The party had no right to expect anything else because it lacked leadership and a sense of purpose.

2. The party has a chance to make a strong comeback, because the Democratic-labor union alliance now in the saddle and riding high will not remain popular forever.

Both conclusions are sound.

But the second one, which looks to the future, needs to be analyzed closely before it is accepted as political gospel.

THERE IS ALWAYS room for an opposition in a country of free opinion and free speech. The Democratic-labor union alliance will generate criticism as it uses and misuses its strength in both houses of Congress, in state legislatures and in governors' mansions.

It will be goaded into frenzied activity as an alliance by the realization that the Democratic party is hopelessly divided on the civil rights issue. Therefore, it must divert public attention from this built-in handicap.

But just because there is room for opposition and a need for opposition does not guarantee that the Republican party as now constituted will be able to capitalize on its chance to make a comeback.

It's best and strongest talking point is going to be prudence in public spending, because the Democratic-labor union alliance is committed strongly to spending more, not less, money.

But it is going to take more than lip service to prudence to convince the American people that Republicans mean what they say. President Eisenhower, on the advice of the people who nominated him in 1952, talked about economy in his first campaign. He had nothing to say about it in his second campaign, however, because he had been unable to do anything about it. If the next Republican presidential nominee in 1960 finds he has been gagged in advance by ever-higher budget recommendations in President Eisenhower's second term, no voter is going to take economy talk seriously.

WHAT IS "economy" in these times and circumstances? It is merely insisting that things should be done, say, 10 per cent cheaper than it is proposed that they be done in the first place?

It is more complex than that — or it should be if the party opposed to more and more spending hopes to make a comeback.

"Economy" should be a policy of insisting that the federal government shall do nothing to take value away from its own currency.

Those who urge this kind of "economy" should insist that every public expenditure be within public means, either by cutting expenditures to stay inside income, or by raising income through higher tax rates.

It should be a policy against wrecking the U.S. government on the "rocks of a loose fiscal policy," as Franklin Roosevelt used to describe irresponsible spending before the men who surrounded him converted him to the ideas of Lord Keynes.

Those ideas never were taken to heart in Britain, where they originated, but they have a multi-billion-dollar whirl in the United States.

To the extent that Republicans in Congress and elsewhere can convince voters that an anti-spending party is taking form out of the wreckage of last Nov. 4, the Republican party has a chance to make a comeback.

If it does not want the chance, opposition to the spenders will have to come from some other quarter. Perhaps the two-party system of the future will be Sound Money vs. Funny Money, the issue that gave the Republican party its 20th century impetus in the Funny Money days of William Jennings Bryan.

Pull A Billion Out Of A Hat

Elmer W. Coy of Toledo, who is credited with the idea for legalizing bingo and other kinds of lotteries in Ohio, provided the rake-off goes to charity, is reported to have a still bigger idea in mind.

This would be a national lottery, which would be feasible if all 48 states let down the bars on this form of gambling.

A national lottery, like perpetual motion, is a very appealing idea — at first. It is appealing because it looks like an easy way to do a hard job; i.e., raise the money to run the government.

In the United States at the present time it might look like an easy way to reduce the national debt, which is Mr. Coy's idea.

But, like perpetual motion, there's a catch in it.

Easy money wouldn't be easy if it became bread-and-butter money. It would be like the tax on so-called luxury items when these become necessities, as some of them do. If the government took its bite out of every purse, or, worse yet, if the government ran the game, gambling wouldn't be much more fun than it turns out to be at a school festival, where the sucker isn't even under the illusion he can make a killing.

Furthermore, as soon as gambling begins to work for the government, the government becomes responsible for the gamblers, which can be a sticky business. Every time a sticky finger comes out of the pot with too much money sticking to it, there's a scandal, and the politicians are the goats.

Lotteries once were as common in the United States as football, baseball and basketball pools are now. There was little difference, other than the fact the old-time lotteries were for public money-raising, while today's "lucky combination" pools are for private profit.

But all existing anti-lottery laws grew out of disillusionment with public lotteries and the abuses they created. The United States learned by bitter experience that government cannot be run like a casino.

Non-Campaigning Might Catch On

In Nebraska, a Democratic candidate for state treasurer duplicated the curious success of a Democratic candidate for secretary of state in Ohio. The Nebraskan, however, did a little better than the Ohioan.

Richard R. Larsen won, without making any speeches, or conducting a campaign. All he had going in his favor was his name, which is familiar in Nebraska state politics.

In Ohio state politics, the name of Sweeney is familiar. John E. and Charles F. Sweeney both have been secretaries of state within the memory of hundreds of thousands of voters.

Therefore, the name of Asher W. Sweeney as a candidate for secretary of state in the Democratic column on Election Day was not a shock to Ohio voters participating in the Democratic landslide. Throughout the state, 48.2 per cent of them "X-ed" it with firm purpose. It was the sheerest luck that the incumbent secretary of state, Ted W. Brown, survived the result.

The curiosity of candidate Sweeney's success was the fact he made no speeches during the campaign season. He is a military officer who did not take time off to tour the Ohio hinterlands or stand on the stumps of old buckeye trees. Yet, he could not have cornered more votes if he had worn himself out and spent thousands of dollars calling attention to himself.

One of these days, the smoldering notion that most political candidates would do as well or better if they went to Outer Mongolia for two months before Election Day is going to become a blazing conviction. It will transform political campaigns. Not a single vote will be alienated by an ill-advised remark. Not a single voter will be driven away by dislike of a candidate's necktie, or the way he parts his hair.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dear Pal: Well, I made a bet on them Russian Sputnags in the international horse race and while it cooled relations between me and the Soviet I am not in no crisis with it. Russia and me can get along without war because I like horses on account of they have no political views.

Zaryad and Garnir run like they were in the race on a five-year plan instead of a three-minute dash. They had traveled far and was not up to a tough test.

This can happen to capitalistic-world skinners, too. But I seen some horse players who played the Ruskies on the nose make such a squawk you would think this race created an international incident calling for summit talks and a flight into the global horse situation by John Foster Dulles.

I SEEN ONE GUY who bet the Russian entry across the board yelling for a world war over his loss of six bucks. The Laurel result could set back the Geneva disarmament conference six months and spur Russia's output of guided missiles.

I look for Pravda to denounce Maryland, NATO horses and the assistant starter who held Zaryad's head.

It is a good thing the U.S. winner was disqualified and the Australian horse moved up, as the result cannot be called a Yankee outrage.

The bad start was due to the fact all the skinners was as rambunctious as U.N. delegates at the post and must have thought this was an international battle at U.N. instead of Laurel. They followed the U.N. pattern of heading in all directions and disagreeing over what was on the agenda.

ONE THING WAS PLAIN them Russian horses could not have won even if Red China had been with them as "volunteers." They must of kept thinking, "If Molotov can get sent to Outer Mongolia for a bad performance, how far can a horse get sent?"

It is just as well a beetle named "Tudor Era" did not win as this is far from a Commie Era as you can get.

Only if it had been an entry with a horse named "House Of Stuart" and the race held at CHURCHILL Downs would it have disturbed relationships between Russia and our side more.

I THOUGHT both Russky skinners was nervous in the paddock and even more so when they passed the grandstand where Soviet diplomats was watching.

I guess all the race proves is that Russian horses don't know much about our tracks and we don't know much about their tracks, so in the interest of peace Ike should come out for an exchange program for horses, jockeys and starters as well as artists, musicians and others. Culture is culture.

Handicap Herman.

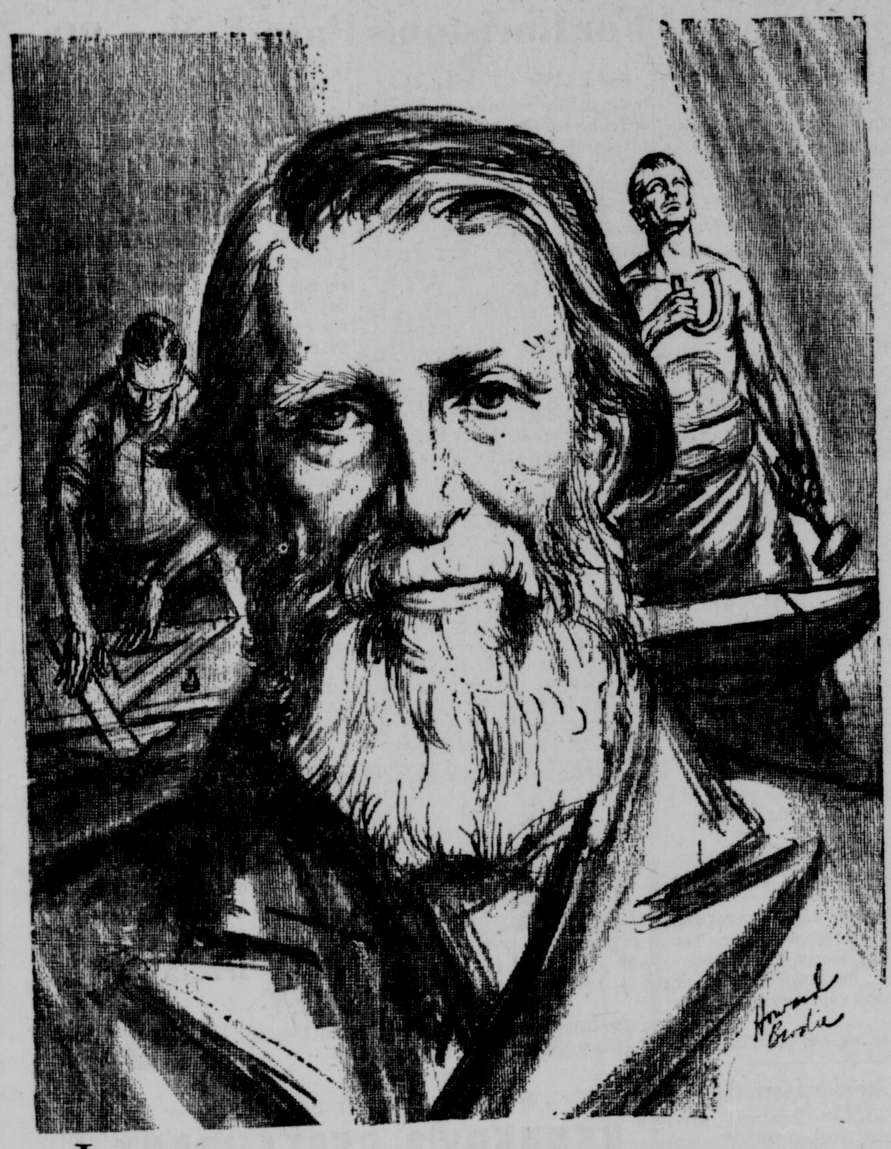
The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie



John Ruskin, the great 19th Century art critic, believed that the soul was an integral element of true art.

"A blacksmith," he wrote, "may put soul into the making of a horseshoe, and an architect may put none into the building of a church. Only exactly in proportion as the soul is thrown into it, the art becomes Fine."

One of the masters of English prose, Ruskin practiced what he preached. As a critic, he praised Gothic architecture as the product of a time of faith and virtue, denounced Renaissance architecture as souless, the product of an age of unfaithfulness and moral decay.

A noted philanthrophist, social reformer and intellectual, Ruskin said the Bible, which his family read together each day, was an essential part of his education.

Lyndon Johnson For President?

By Ralph McGill

ATLANTA

Representatives of certain financial, industrial and political interests in the southwest and southeast quietly are sounding the Democratic victory tide seeking to find a channel through which to steer Lyndon Johnson of Texas to the Democratic presidential nomination in 1860.

They are heartened by the somewhat mocking fact that while the Democratic election triumph was massive in extent, the party has no outstanding candidate for the presidency.

They exclude Adlai Stevenson from this field. Indeed, one of the major features of their plan is that Stevenson must become the secretary of state if, and when, the Democrats regain the White House.

They argue that the prospect of Stevenson replacing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles would prove an almost irresistible attraction to the voters of America, thereby adding great strength to the ticket.

Stevenson is excluded from a third try by these planners, who are chiefly southwestern, on the grounds that new faces are needed.

It is a conclusion by no means valid but they seem to have sounded out some state leaders in the Midwest, West and East in reaching it.

The election reduces the field of Democratic possibilities. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who could not have won the nomination but who could have tied up some votes for an indefinite time, is eliminated.

Michigan's C. Mennen (Soapy) Williams won an unprecedented sixth term as governor. He will be, of course, a favorite-son nominee. But even though labor played a very considerable role in many of the Democratic victories, Gov. Williams is not, and cannot be, the party's choice. He would carry too many liabilities.

Governor - elect Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California, whose vote total was more than a million above that of Sen. William Knowland, is a national political figure. But he is a new one.

He will be a power at the convention. His voice will be among those designating the nominee. But he, himself, would wish to build more solidly in California before making the big try.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts is the best-known candidate. Since the 1956 convention he has maintained a rewarding, accelerated sprint up and down and across the country. But, say the hopeful Johnson group, he is too young and too boyish in appearance.

In an era of sputniks and tremendous international pressures, they do not believe Sen. Kennedy will muster enough public support to get the votes for the top position on the ticket.

A national convention is the most pragmatic assembly possible.

IT ALWAYS selects the man it believes has the best chance of winning. It does not always think he will win. But it always considers the man nominated to have the best chance.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey will be one of the men most influential in the 1960 convention. But he is not looked upon as a likely choice.

This brings the Johnson group down to one other contender — Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri.

He is, admittedly, the most likely nominee as of now. He is from a strategic area. He is a vote-getter.

He was right, and the Eisenhower administration was wrong, on missiles and military preparedness.

He is rather well and favorably known nationally. President Truman and his followers in several states are for him.

But those who would promote Sen. Johnson already are putting forward the idea that Sen. Symington can be only a compromise nominee and as such could not win.

Why not, they argue, begin now to build up the votes to nominate Lyndon Johnson.

They insist, with some justification, that it was his leadership of the Senate majority which created a climate of voter confidence in the Democratic party's capacity to lead and govern.

Johnson, they point out, got the civil rights bill through and is not regarded as a Southerner on this point.

How far this somewhat thin dream will develop is something for the future. But those who promote it believe they have a chance.

Dear Nephew: I have been reading and rereading the opinion of a University of California chemist and photosynthesis researcher that millions of planets have life on them, just like the planet we live on. He may be right.

This scientist, fellow named Melvin Calvin, has figured out from his research that plants and animals are the inevitable development of the same chemical evolution on as many as 100 million other planets that gave the earth its plant and animal life.

I do not happen to be one of the earthlings conceited enough to believe all the other planets in the universe are inferior to ours and all other beings in the universe are backward, compared with us.

This is not popular, but neither do I happen to be an earthling who thinks everything on the other side of the earth is inferior, either. Anyone who will give me a running start can get an argument out of me that we are not necessarily any better off than some of the earthlings we consider to be backward people.

I refuse to believe that people are backward because they are different. Nor, for that matter, do I believe they are forward because they are different. Comparisons are absurd. Is the giraffe better or worse than the polar bear? And how do you stand on the comparison between parakeets and hippopotami, or between Icelanders and bushmen?

I am fully prepared to find out when we get our interplanetary bus lines into operation that the beings we will get acquainted with are doing very nicely, thank you, with entirely different equipment. It is quite possible, is it not, that they sidestepped some of the problems we are burdened with, such as the crazy mixed-up plumbing that keeps sending us to the hospital?

I hold that it also is quite possible they may have figured out more answers than we have latched onto so far in our fumbling efforts to understand the nature of the universe.

When he make contact with them, their answers won't be the same as our answers. You can bet on that. I am available for bets at any time between 8 a.m. and midnight, provided all bets are off in the event of my demise before we make contact.

My hunch is that we'll find it takes all kinds to make a universe, the same as it takes all kinds to make a world. There will be good, better, best and not so good — and it may turn out that we're among the not-so-goods.

This could have a salutary effect. It would give us a powerful inducement to quit killing one another and start figuring out how to put our best foot forward.

Some of our universal neighbors might take pity on us and send us foreign aid, so we could lift ourselves by our own bootstraps. That would be kind of them, wouldn't it?

Give our regards to the family. Your Aunt Effie says the next sound you hear from this space station will be "Whoosh!" meaning I will be on my way to the moon. In the meantime, keep those rockets coming! We've no time to waste.

Union Dues Issue

By David Lawrence

Political Purposes Brought Into Court

Admission in open court by 14 national labor unions that dues and assessments levied by those unions have been and are being used for political purposes is the latest sensation in the right-to-work controversy.

David Lawrence

In a trial being held in Macon, Ga., several persons who have been compelled against their will to join a railway labor union under a so-called "union shop" agreement are suing to have such contracts declared in violation of the Constitution of the United States and of the right-to-work laws of the State of Georgia.

Eight railroads and terminal companies, along with the 14 national and international unions in the railway industry as well as various machinists unions, are jointly made defendants, as the involuntary union members have been threatened with loss of their jobs if they fail to continue the payment of dues.

The workers contend that the purpose of the dues and assessments is not just to meet collective-bargaining expenses but to carry on campaigns of a political nature in order to elect candidates for public office and that this is at variance with their beliefs.

"Stipulations of fact" now have been entered in the trial, which means both sides concede the truth of the statement that tens of thousands of dollars of dues money have been used for political campaigns.

The amounts and the contributing unions are formally listed for several years.

THE "STIPULATIONS" do not name the individual senators or representatives who were among the recipients of the money as campaigning contributions, and there are rumors around Washington that these names were purposely omitted to avoid embarrassment to many Democratic members of the House of Representatives.

The present civil suit does not raise any legal issue as to whether the Federal Corrupt Practices Act or any state laws forbidding political contributions by labor unions may have been violated but it does deal with the question of involuntary tribute levied on workingmen under the guise of dues and assessments for "collective bargaining" expenses.

Up to now, it has been repeatedly argued that those individuals who don't belong to a union in a shop where a majority are union members are "free riders."

But here the worker who has joined says the dues have not been used merely for union expenses but for political purposes, too.

The opening statement of E. Smythe Gambrell, counsel for the workers, declares "that the labor unions, through the union shop agreement, are extracting money from them (the workers) against their will."

He adds that, under the First, Fifth, Ninth and 10th Amendments of the United States Constitution, the workers are supposed to be protected "from such unwarranted invasion of their freedom of association, freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom to work and political freedom as the exaction of said money and its said misuse bring about."

THE INTERNATIONAL unions which are defendants in the case have formed various political leagues and associations, and all the unions mentioned are members of the AFL-CIO.

These associations, according to the "stipulated" facts, have received direct contributions from labor unions. One of the "stipulations" agreed to by the unions in the case reads as follws:

"The money which has been, is being and will be paid by plaintiffs, intervening plaintiffs and the class they represent as dues, fees and assessments has been, is being and will be used in substantial part to support candidates for the offices of president, vice president, U.S. senators and congressmen and their campaigns as described elsewhere in this stipulation of facts, and for direct contributions to candidates for various state and local offices, as described elsewhere in this stipulation of facts."

The unions also concede that the dues, fees and assessments required to be paid by members under the "union shop" agreement "have been, are being and will be used in substantial part for purposes other than the negotiaton, maintenance, and administration of agreements concerning rates of pay, rules and working conditions, or wages, hours, terms and other conditions of employment, or the handling of disputes relating to the above."

THE SUPREME COURT of Georgia on June 10, 1957, decided that this practice was a violation of the Federal Constitution and remanded the case to the Superior Court of Bibb County, Georgia, for further injunction proceedings.

The Supreme Court of Georgia quoted from a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which held that dues payments cannot be "used as a cover for enforcing ideological conformity or other action in contravention of the First or the Fifth Amendments."

The Georgia Supreme Court then made the following declaration in its 1957 decision:

"We do not believe on can constitutionally be compelled to contribute money to support ideas, politics and candidates which he (the worker) opposes. We believe his right to immunity from such exactions is superior to any claim the union can make upon him."

Had this issue been fully explained to the voters of the five states which last week rejected right-to-work laws and had not many millions of dollars — some estimates run up as high as $1,200,000 in California alone — derived in part from union dues been applied to defeat those laws, there might have been a different outcome.

Letters To The Editor

I agree with Mr. Frank Miller and his letter to you about your paper's stand on the so - called "Right - To - Work" bill.

If a candidate for office was for the bill, the union people did not vote for him and he did not get elected.

Now if the union people who are subscribers of your paper would all quit buying it for just two weeks, you would soon see that you were biting the hand that was feeding you.

What businessman wants to advertise his merchandise in a paper that the union working man does not read?

I don't understand why your paper and the local radio station, WOHI, took the stand that they did against the laboring people, as they are your bread and butter.

Without the union, the laboring people are lost. I am for the union and the protection that it gives the laboring people. I am also for a stronger "Buy American" campaign to give your own people more work.

Yours for more jobs, better working conditions and thereby happier homes.

The present civil suit does not raise any legal issue as to whether the Federal Corrupt Practices Act or any state laws forbidding political contributions by labor unions may have been violated but it does deal with the question of involuntary tribute levied on workingmen under the guise of dues and assessments for "collective bargaining" expenses.

Up to now, it has been repeatedly argued that those individuals who don't belong to a union in a shop where a majority are union members are "free riders."

But here the worker who has joined says the dues have not been used merely for union expenses but for political purposes, too.

The opening statement of E. Smythe Gambrell, counsel for the workers, declares "that the labor unions, through the union shop agreement, are extracting money from them (the workers) against their will."

He adds that, under the First, Fifth, Ninth and 10th Amendments of the United States Constitution, the workers are supposed to be protected "from such unwarranted invasion of their freedom of association, freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom to work and political freedom as the exaction of said money and its said misuse bring about."

THE INTERNATIONAL unions which are defendants in the case have formed various political leagues and associations, and all the unions mentioned are members of the AFL-CIO.

These associations, according to the "stipulated" facts, have received direct contributions from labor unions. One of the "stipulations" agreed to by the unions in the case reads as follws:

"The money which has been, is being and will be paid by plaintiffs, intervening plaintiffs and the class they represent as dues, fees and assessments has been, is being and will be used in substantial part to support candidates for the offices of president, vice president, U.S. senators and congressmen and their campaigns as described elsewhere in this stipulation of facts, and for direct contributions to candidates for various state and local offices, as described elsewhere in this stipulation of facts."

The unions also concede that the dues, fees and assessments required to be paid by members under the "union shop" agreement "have been, are being and will be used in substantial part for purposes other than the negotiaton, maintenance, and administration of agreements concerning rates of pay, rules and working conditions, or wages, hours, terms and other conditions of employment, or the handling of disputes relating to the above."

THE SUPREME COURT of Georgia on June 10, 1957, decided that this practice was a violation of the Federal Constitution and remanded the case to the Superior Court of Bibb County, Georgia, for further injunction proceedings.

The Supreme Court of Georgia quoted from a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which held that dues payments cannot be "used as a cover for enforcing ideological conformity or other action in contravention of the First or the Fifth Amendments."

The Georgia Supreme Court then made the following declaration in its 1957 decision:

"We do not believe on can constitutionally be compelled to contribute money to support ideas, politics and candidates which he (the worker) opposes. We believe his right to immunity from such exactions is superior to any claim the union can make upon him."

Had this issue been fully explained to the voters of the five states which last week rejected right-to-work laws and had not many millions of dollars — some estimates run up as high as $1,200,000 in California alone — derived in part from union dues been applied to defeat those laws, there might have been a different outcome.

Pull A Billion Out Of A Hat

Elmer W. Coy of Toledo, who is credited with the idea for legalizing bingo and other kinds of lotteries in Ohio, provided the rake-off goes to charity, is reported to have a still bigger idea in mind.

This would be a national lottery, which would be feasible if all 48 states let down the bars on this form of gambling.

A national lottery, like perpetual motion, is a very appealing idea — at first. It is appealing because it looks like an easy way to do a hard job; i.e., raise the money to run the government.

In the United States at the present time it might look like an easy way to reduce the national debt, which is Mr. Coy's idea.

But, like perpetual motion, there's a catch in it.

Easy money wouldn't be easy if it became bread-and-butter money. It would be like the tax on so-called luxury items when these become necessities, as some of them do. If the government took its bite out of every purse, or, worse yet, if the government ran the game, gambling wouldn't be much more fun than it turns out to be at a school festival, where the sucker isn't even under the illusion he can make a killing.

Furthermore, as soon as gambling begins to work for the government, the government becomes responsible for the gamblers, which can be a sticky business. Every time a sticky finger comes out of the pot with too much money sticking to it, there's a scandal, and the politicians are the goats.

Lotteries once were as common in the United States as football, baseball and basketball pools are now. There was little difference, other than the fact the old-time lotteries were for public money-raising, while today's "lucky combination" pools are for private profit.

But all existing anti-lottery laws grew out of disillusionment with public lotteries and the abuses they created. The United States learned by bitter experience that government cannot be run like a casino.

Non-Campaigning Might Catch On

In Nebraska, a Democratic candidate for state treasurer duplicated the curious success of a Democratic candidate for secretary of state in Ohio. The Nebraskan, however, did a little better than the Ohioan.

Richard R. Larsen won, without making any speeches, or conducting a campaign. All he had going in his favor was his name, which is familiar in Nebraska state politics.

In Ohio state politics, the name of Sweeney is familiar. John E. and Charles F. Sweeney both have been secretaries of state within the memory of hundreds of thousands of voters.

Therefore, the name of Asher W. Sweeney as a candidate for secretary of state in the Democratic column on Election Day was not a shock to Ohio voters participating in the Democratic landslide. Throughout the state, 48.2 per cent of them "X-ed" it with firm purpose. It was the sheerest luck that the incumbent secretary of state, Ted W. Brown, survived the result.

The curiosity of candidate Sweeney's success was the fact he made no speeches during the campaign season. He is a military officer who did not take time off to tour the Ohio hinterlands or stand on the stumps of old buckeye trees. Yet, he could not have cornered more votes if he had worn himself out and spent thousands of dollars calling attention to himself.

One of these days, the smoldering notion that most political candidates would do as well or better if they went to Outer Mongolia for two months before Election Day is going to become a blazing conviction. It will transform political campaigns. Not a single vote will be alienated by an ill-advised remark. Not a single voter will be driven away by dislike of a candidate's necktie, or the way he parts his hair.

Lyndon Johnson For President?

By Ralph McGill

ATLANTA

Representatives of certain financial, industrial and political interests in the southwest and southeast quietly are sounding the Democratic victory tide seeking to find a channel through which to steer Lyndon Johnson of Texas to the Democratic presidential nomination in 1860.

They are heartened by the somewhat mocking fact that while the Democratic election triumph was massive in extent, the party has no outstanding candidate for the presidency.

They exclude Adlai Stevenson from this field. Indeed, one of the major features of their plan is that Stevenson must become the secretary of state if, and when, the Democrats regain the White House.

They argue that the prospect of Stevenson replacing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles would prove an almost irresistible attraction to the voters of America, thereby adding great strength to the ticket.

Stevenson is excluded from a third try by these planners, who are chiefly southwestern, on the grounds that new faces are needed.

It is a conclusion by no means valid but they seem to have sounded out some state leaders in the Midwest, West and East in reaching it.

The election reduces the field of Democratic possibilities. Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who could not have won the nomination but who could have tied up some votes for an indefinite time, is eliminated.

Michigan's C. Mennen (Soapy) Williams won an unprecedented sixth term as governor. He will be, of course, a favorite-son nominee. But even though labor played a very considerable role in many of the Democratic victories, Gov. Williams is not, and cannot be, the party's choice. He would carry too many liabilities.

Governor - elect Edmund G. (Pat) Brown of California, whose vote total was more than a million above that of Sen. William Knowland, is a national political figure. But he is a new one.

He will be a power at the convention. His voice will be among those designating the nominee. But he, himself, would wish to build more solidly in California before making the big try.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts is the best-known candidate. Since the 1956 convention he has maintained a rewarding, accelerated sprint up and down and across the country. But, say the hopeful Johnson group, he is too young and too boyish in appearance.

In an era of sputniks and tremendous international pressures, they do not believe Sen. Kennedy will muster enough public support to get the votes for the top position on the ticket.

IT ALWAYS selects the man it believes has the best chance of winning. It does not always think he will win. But it always considers the man nominated to have the best chance.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey will be one of the men most influential in the 1960 convention. But he is not looked upon as a likely choice.

This brings the Johnson group down to one other contender — Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri.

He is, admittedly, the most likely nominee as of now. He is from a strategic area. He is a vote-getter.

He was right, and the Eisenhower administration was wrong, on missiles and military preparedness.

He is rather well and favorably known nationally. President Truman and his followers in several states are for him.

But those who would promote Sen. Johnson already are putting forward the idea that Sen. Symington can be only a compromise nominee and as such could not win.

Why not, they argue, begin now to build up the votes to nominate Lyndon Johnson.

They insist, with some justification, that it was his leadership of the Senate majority which created a climate of voter confidence in the Democratic party's capacity to lead and govern.

Johnson, they point out, got the civil rights bill through and is not regarded as a Southerner on this point.

How far this somewhat thin dream will develop is something for the future. But those who promote it believe they have a chance.

Dear Nephew: I have been reading and rereading the opinion of a University of California chemist and photosynthesis researcher that millions of planets have life on them, just like the planet we live on. He may be right.

This scientist, fellow named Melvin Calvin, has figured out from his research that plants and animals are the inevitable development of the same chemical evolution on as many as 100 million other planets that gave the earth its plant and animal life.

I do not happen to be one of the earthlings conceited enough to believe all the other planets in the universe are inferior to ours and all other beings in the universe are backward, compared with us.

This is not popular, but neither do I happen to be an earthling who thinks everything on the other side of the earth is inferior, either. Anyone who will give me a running start can get an argument out of me that we are not necessarily any better off than some of the earthlings we consider to be backward people.

I refuse to believe that people are backward because they are different. Nor, for that matter, do I believe they are forward because they are different. Comparisons are absurd. Is the giraffe better or worse than the polar bear? And how do you stand on the comparison between parakeets and hippopotami, or between Icelanders and bushmen?

I am fully prepared to find out when we get our interplanetary bus lines into operation that the beings we will get acquainted with are doing very nicely, thank you, with entirely different equipment. It is quite possible, is it not, that they sidestepped some of the problems we are burdened with, such as the crazy mixed-up plumbing that keeps sending us to the hospital?

I hold that it also is quite possible they may have figured out more answers than we have latched onto so far in our fumbling efforts to understand the nature of the universe.

When he make contact with them, their answers won't be the same as our answers. You can bet on that. I am available for bets at any time between 8 a.m. and midnight, provided all bets are off in the event of my demise before we make contact.

My hunch is that we'll find it takes all kinds to make a universe, the same as it takes all kinds to make a world. There will be good, better, best and not so good — and it may turn out that we're among the not-so-goods.

This could have a salutary effect. It would give us a powerful inducement to quit killing one another and start figuring out how to put our best foot forward.

Some of our universal neighbors might take pity on us and send us foreign aid, so we could lift ourselves by our own bootstraps. That would be kind of them, wouldn't it?

Give our regards to the family. Your Aunt Effie says the next sound you hear from this space station will be "Whoosh!" meaning I will be on my way to the moon. In the meantime, keep those rockets coming! We've no time to waste.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dear Pal: Well, I made a bet on them Russian Sputnags in the international horse race and while it cooled relations between me and the Soviet I am not in no crisis with it. Russia and me can get along without war because I like horses on account of they have no political views.

Zaryad and Garnir run like they were in the race on a five-year plan instead of a three-minute dash. They had traveled far and was not up to a tough test.

This can happen to capitalistic-world skinners, too. But I seen some horse players who played the Ruskies on the nose make such a squawk you would think this race created an international incident calling for summit talks and a flight into the global horse situation by John Foster Dulles.

I SEEN ONE GUY who bet the Russian entry across the board yelling for a world war over his loss of six bucks. The Laurel result could set back the Geneva disarmament conference six months and spur Russia's output of guided missiles.

I look for Pravda to denounce Maryland, NATO horses and the assistant starter who held Zaryad's head.

It is a good thing the U.S. winner was disqualified and the Australian horse moved up, as the result cannot be called a Yankee outrage.

The bad start was due to the fact all the skinners was as rambunctious as U.N. delegates at the post and must have thought this was an international battle at U.N. instead of Laurel. They followed the U.N. pat-

ONE THING WAS PLAIN them Russian horses could not have won even if Red China had been with them as "volunteers." They must of kept thinking, "If Molotov can get sent to Outer Mongolia for a bad performance, how far can a horse get sent?"

It is just as well a beetle named "Tudor Era" did not win as this is far from a Commie Era as you can get.

Only if it had been an entry with a horse named "House Of Stuart" and the race held at CHURCHILL Downs would it have disturbed relationships between Russia and our side more.

I THOUGHT both Russky skinners was nervous in the paddock and even more so when they passed the grandstand where Soviet diplomats was watching.

I guess all the race proves is that Russian horses don't know much about our tracks and we don't know much about their tracks, so in the interest of peace Ike should come out for an exchange program for horses, jockeys and starters as well as artists, musicians and others. Culture is culture.

Letters To The Editor

I agree with Mr. Frank Miller and his letter to you about your paper's stand on the so - called "Right - To - Work" bill.

If a candidate for office was for the bill, the union people did not vote for him and he did not get elected.

Now if the union people who are subscribers of your paper would all quit buying it for just two weeks, you would soon see that you were biting the hand that was feeding you.

What businessman wants to advertise his merchandise in a paper that the union working man does not read?

I don't understand why your paper and the local radio station, WOHI, took the stand that they did against the laboring people, as they are your bread and butter.

Without the union, the laboring people are lost. I am for the union and the protection that it gives the laboring people. I am also for a stronger "Buy American" campaign to give your own people more work.

Yours for more jobs, better working conditions and thereby happier homes.

I would like to direct this letter to the people of East Liverpool who voted for repeal of the city income tax.

After the tragic fire of Wednesday morning, I don't see how they can live with themselves. Only God knows whether more men and better equipment might have prevented the death of three small children and their father, but I am glad I don't have to go to sleep at night with the feeling that I might have helped to still three small voices forever.

All I can say to the majority of the voters, "Shame on you!"

THE SALVATION ARMY

BEQUESTS

Thine Alms Are Had In Remembrance In The Sight Of God.
—ACTS 10:31

The ramification of The Salvation Army are so far-flung in the area of human need, that its resources must be replenished and reinforced considerably to cope adequately with the "need of the hour".

Many of our new and modern Citadels throughout the country received their financial basis largely through legacies left for that purpose.

A new structure is sorely needed in East Liverpool to serve the modern needs. Such a structure would include Chapel, Class Rooms and a Recreational Center. In addition an adequate quarters are needed for a Social Welfare Center, with Emergency Shelters, Kitchen, Clothing and Furniture Depot.

A BUS would also be a great asset to the local operation, as would an Emergency Mobile Unit.

All of these projects involve considerable revenue, but as one peers into the future — aware of the inevitable support for such programs would prove a safe, sound investment in world betterment.

So, may we suggest, in drawing your will, that you consider these capital needs that would enable The Salvation Army to perform a more effective mission for humankind.

THE SALVATION ARMY

BEQUESTS

Thine Alms Are Had In Remembrance In The Sight Of God.

—ACTS 10:31

The ramification of The Salvation Army are so far-flung in the area of human need, that its resources must be replenished and reinforced considerably to cope adequately with the "need of the hour".

Many of our new and modern Citadels throughout the country received their financial basis largely through legacies left for that purpose.

A new structure is sorely needed in East Liverpool to serve the modern needs. Such a structure would include Chapel, Class Rooms and a Recreational Center. In addition an adequate quarters are needed for a Social Welfare Center, with Emergency Shelters, Kitchen, Clothing and Furniture Depot.

A BUS would also be a great asset to the local operation, as would an Emergency Mobile Unit.

All of these projects involve considerable revenue, but as one peers into the future — aware of the inevitable support for such programs would prove a safe, sound investment in world betterment.

So, may we suggest, in drawing your will, that you consider these capital needs that would enable The Salvation Army to perform a more effective mission for humankind.

New Jersey Minister Given New Job, Dozen Or So Titles

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One day last week the Rev. Dr. Howard E. Spragg of Westfield, N.J., got a new job — and a dozen or so new titles to go with it.

Dr. Spragg was elected head of the Treasury Department of the Congregational Christian Church boards, a financial setup which, at first glance, appears to be the most complicated yet devised by man.

As to titles, he is treasurer of the Board of Home Missions, the Annuity Fund for Congregational Ministers, the Retirement Fund for Lay Workers and the Corporation for the General Council.

He also is treasurer of the 10 boards and societies for which the Home Mission Board holds power of attorney and agent, including the endowment fund of the American College in Madura, India.

True to tradition, the Congregational boards went to a minister when it came time to pick a successor to the Rev. Dr. William F. Frazier, who retires Dec. 31 at 70. Most church treasurers are lay financiers.

"We've always had a minister as treasurer," says Dr. Spragg, "even though it's not required under the bylaws. A minister knows the life of the church from the inside and is not inclined to forget why these funds were given in the past.

"Most Christians try to separate the spiritual from the material things in their religious lives. I regard stewardship of these funds to be as spiritual as a Sunday service."

When he assumes the post Jan. 1, Dr. Spragg will ride herd on total assets of close to 100 million dollars, most of them invested in stocks, bonds and mortgages. Annual disbursements are more than 10 million dollars.

The treasurer of the Congregational boards occupies an odd position in the church's financial scheme. He's sort of an adminsitrator and liaison man between experts who make recommendations and those who have the final say.

Assistant treasurers do most of the pick and shovel work. They are lay people, particularly well versed in some aspect of finance like stocks and bonds, mortgages or real estate appraisal.

The investment committees of the various funds, boards and corporations make the final decisions on investments. The treasurer generally is a member of each investment committee. Membership on many committees overlaps.

Dr. Spragg, 41, a native of Malden, Mass., is no stranger to finance.

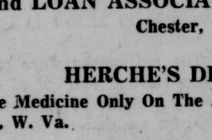
THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	I John	1	1-4
Monday	Luke	8	11-15
Tuesday	John	5	24-39
Wednesday	Proverbs	6	21-23
Thursday	Psalms	19	7-11
Friday	Deuteronomy	30	11-14
Saturday	Revelation	22	1-21



Through every generation and in every nation—people have looked for peace and security. Hundreds of volumes have been written on the subject and thinkers and writers have devoted their lives to the search.
But of all these books, the Bible is most concerned with peace and security. "Fear not, for I am with you; be not dismayed for I am your God."
No man-made philosophy can banish the worries and troubles of life. But in the gospel we find assurance of His care.
God loves us. When we go to Him in humility, He cleanses us of sin. Our minds are put at ease. Peace fills our souls.
Go then to the Book that Lives. Through study, prayer and worship we will find that peace which has been granted to millions in every corner of the globe. Discover anew your life through the Book that Lives.

New Jersey Minister Given New Job, Dozen Or So Titles

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One day last week the Rev. Dr. Howard E. Spragg of Westfield, N.J., got a new job — and a dozen or so new titles to go with it.

Dr. Spragg was elected head of the Treasury Department of the Congregational Christian Church boards, a financial setup which, at first glance, appears to be the most complicated yet devised by man.

As to titles, he is treasurer of the Board of Home Missions, the Annuity Fund for Congregational Ministers, the Retirement Fund for Lay Workers and the Corporation for the General Council.

He also is treasurer of the 10 boards and societies for which the Home Mission Board holds power of attorney and agent, including the endowment fund of the American College in Madura, India.

True to tradition, the Congregational boards went to a minister when it came time to pick a successor to the Rev. Dr. William F. Frazier, who retires Dec. 31 at 70. Most church treasurers are lay financiers.

"We've always had a minister as treasurer," says Dr. Spragg, "even though it's not required under the bylaws. A minister knows the life of the church from the inside and is not inclined to forget why these funds were given in the past.

"Most Christians try to separate the spiritual from the material things in their religious lives. I regard stewardship of these funds to be as spiritual as a Sunday service."

When he assumes the post Jan. 1, Dr. Spragg will ride herd on total assets of close to 100 million dollars, most of them invested in stocks, bonds and mortgages. Annual disbursements are more than 10 million dollars.

The treasurer of the Congregational boards occupies an odd position in the church's financial scheme. He's sort of an adminsitrator and liaison man between experts who make recommendations and those who have the final say.

Assistant treasurers do most of the pick and shovel work. They are lay people, particularly well versed in some aspect of finance like stocks and bonds, mortgages or real estate appraisal.

The investment committees of the various funds, boards and corporations make the final decisions on investments. The treasurer generally is a member of each investment committee. Membership on many committees overlaps.

Dr. Spragg, 41, a native of Malden, Mass., is no stranger to finance.

From 1949 through 1952, he handled a $300,000 annual budget as general secretary of Congregational Christian work in Puerto Rico. His last post was general secretary for administration for the Home Mission Board.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Monday	Luke	8	11-15
Tuesday	John	5	24-39
Wednesday	Proverbs	6	21-23
Thursday	Psalms	19	7-11
Friday	Deuteronomy	30	11-14
Saturday	Revelation	22	1-21

Through every generation and in every nation—people have looked for peace and security. Hundreds of volumes have been written on the subject and thinkers and writers have devoted their lives to the search.

But of all these books, the Bible is most concerned with peace and security. "Fear not, for I am with you; be not dismayed for I am your God."

No man-made philosophy can banish the worries and troubles of life. But in the gospel we find assurance of His care.

God loves us. When we go to Him in humility, He cleanses us of sin. Our minds are put at ease. Peace fills our souls.

Go then to the Book that Lives. Through study, prayer and worship we will find that peace which has been granted to millions in every corner of the globe. Discover anew your life through the Book that Lives.

Alliance Continues Unbeaten In Thumping Potters, 52-0

Wellsville Bows To Lisbon, 36-0, In Homecoming Finale

Victors Run Wild In Third Quarter

By CHUCK CRONIN

East Liverpool became the ninth victim of mighty Alliance Friday night as the top-ranked Aviators put on a devastating offensive show and probably wrapped up the mythical 1958 Ohio football crown in humbling the Potters, 52-0, before a crowd of more than 5,500 at Patterson Field.

Four mercury - footed backs, led by slashing fullback Gene Venables and high - scoring Bob Brown, joined in a seven - touchdown parade of the undefeated but once - tied Stark County eleven.

It was the final game for both squads. The victory gave Alliance a 9-0-1 record, while the Potters finished with two victories, six defeats and two ties. It was the worst licking by an Alliance team for the Potters since a 54-7 trouncing in 1954.

LEADING ONLY 12-0 at halftime, Coach Mel Knowlton's speedsters struck like lightning early in the third quarter, going on a 32-point spree in 12 minutes and turning into a rout what looked like another thriller in the series between the two rivals.

After Brown scooted 65 yards on a punt return on the fourth play after halftime, the Aviator touchdown train chugged full steam ahead and was derailed only momentarily the remainder of the game.

Venables, a 164-pounder who seemed as hard to bring down as the New York Limited, was Mr. Big for the Aviators, scoring three touchdowns and adding three conversion rushes for 24 points.

Brown scored two touchdowns, both on long runs of 65 and 37 yards, and his punt return within minutes of the halftime kickoff was the turning point of the game. His 14 points last night gave him a total of 116 for the season.

VENABLES scored on bucks of 1, 5 and 7 yards. Alliance's other scores were made by quarterback Walter Zingg, on a 1 - yard slash, and nimble - footed Lee Woolf, the team's fastest man, on a 37 - yard dash.

The Aviators, who are only six points shy of being the state's top scoring team and are second in defense with only 34 points scored by opponents, were undoubtedly the finest aggregation the Potters met the entire season.

The classky backfield quartet of Brown, Venables, Woolf and Zingg is rated as the finest at Alliance High in many years. All are fast and elusive and have their jobs made easier by operating behind a hard - charging line.

Zingg, who completed six of 14 passes from his quarterback slot, threw with amazing accuracy and practically dropped the aerials into the "back pockets" of his receivers.

But while Alliance took all laurels in scoring, East Liverpool's All - Ohio guard candidate Nick Musuraca again proved his defensive prowess rates with the state's best in repeatedly making tackles all over the field.

ALONG WITH Musuraca, eight other seniors rang down the curtain on their football careers at East Liverpool High, including fullback Bill O'Neil, Pat Cooper, John McCullough, Ravenna Bell, Joe Leigh, Carl Ludwig, Dave Goodballet and John Horger. On the sidelines with injuries were two other seniors — Mike Kapp and Jim Clunk.

The Potters spent most of the night chasing Alliance halfbacks up and down the turf and managed to stage only two major scoring marches, both of which were held at least 10 yards short of a touchdown.

One came in the first quarter when Dave Zelch, Dave Goodballet, O'Neil and quarterback Bob Mackall alternated in carrying from the Potter 36 to the Alliance 20 in 10 plays including a 35-yard run by Zelch. The march was halted when a fourth - down pass fell incomplete

Late in the final quarter, Musuraca set up another scoring chance by hauling back a short kickoff 41 yards to the Alliance 31. A fumble three plays later at the Alliance 21 halted the drive.

—:—

THE REMAINDER of the game the Potters were forced to punt after picking up a few first downs and then running out of steam. Cookie Goodballet, a sophomore, stole the thunder in the punting department, booting six times for a 31 - yard average, a little better than that posted by Alliance's rugged end, Roy Allen. Allen, however, booted only once for 28 yards.

With several thousand fans in the stands, many from a fleet of chartered buses, Knowlton kept the pressure on the entire distance in hopes of gaining a firmer hold on first place in the Associated Press football poll.

The victory had to be impressive as second - place Marion High had been rapidly gaining poll points on the Aviators each week and finished the season with a 9-0 mark.

Alliance had been averaging 327.2 yards per game previous to Friday night, but the long runs reeled off by Brown and Woolf and Venable's slashes off tackle more than doubled the game average.

In piling up 529 yards on the ground while losing only four, Alliance finished with a 616 total yards gained to East Liverpool's 168—which was above the 162.3 average attained by previous victims.

The Potters rushed for 208 yards, but losses amounting to 54 yards cut sharply into their total yards gained rushing. Alliance had a 19-7 edge in first downs.

The 52 points scored by Alliance were the highest against the Potters in any game this season and wrote the final chapter to a dismal season, victory - wise.

—:—

ALLIANCE wasted no time in lighting up the scoreboard after receiving the opening kickoff and putting the ball in play on its own 35 - yard line.

Several quick jump passes from Zingg to Allen, three smashes by Venables and a short reverse with Woolf carrying enabled the winners to move 63 yards for their first touchdown in nine plays. With less than six minutes elapsed in the first period, Venables crashed over East Liverpool's left side for a 6-0 lead. His attempted run for the conversion was halted by Zelch.

After the kickoff, the Potters flashed their most impressive offensive punch of the night. Cooper returned the kickoff to the Potter 36 and a rush by O'Neil on the first play carried to the Potter 40.

On second down, Zelch stormed across the line, broke into the Alliance secondary and was finally hauled down after a 35 - yard dash to the Alliance 25. Mackall picked up 5 on a keeper, O'Neil bucked up the middle for three yards, but Goodballet was halted for no gain at the Alliance 19.

On fourth down, Zelch raced around left end to the Alliance 12 for another first down which kept the drive moving. However, Mackall went back to pass on the next play and Allen applied the skids to the march by hauling him down for a 14 - yard loss back to the Alliance 26.

A rush by Zelch got six yards on the next play, but two passes by Mackall went astray and the Aviators took possession on downs.

No more scoring chances came in the rest of the period for either team.

In the second quarter, an Alliance march was stopped at the Potter 22, a yard short of a first down. Only minutes later, Brown weaved his way 37 yards by outracing the Potter secondary for Alliance's second touchdown. Zingg's pass for the conversion fell incomplete. The Potters never crossed the midfield stripe in the second period. The deepest penetration in the second half by the Blue and White was to the Alliance 25.

A fumble recovered by Bill Coldsnow ended that drive. The 32 points in last night's third quarter were the most scored this year in any one period by the Aviators.

Cards Rip 16 Hits To Wallop Japs, 9-2

TOKYO (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, nearing the end of their 16-game exhibition tour, ripped off 16 hits today, including solo homers by Stan Musial and Don Blasingame, to wallop the Japan All-Stars 9-2.

Blasingame also singled and tripled in five times at bat. Third sacker Ken Boyer went 4-for-5 with three singles and a double.

Southpaw Vinegar Bend Mizell, who pitched the first six innings, and Jim Brosnan pitched a combined 6-hitter for the Cards.

Teenage Swim Queen Cracks 2 World Marks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Teenage swim queen Sylvia Ruuska smashed two world records for the 1500 meters and mile Friday night in an AAU-sanctioned meet at Treasure Island.

The young Berkeley, Calif., athlete swam the 1500 in 20:02.4 and the mile in 21:26.4 in the single-event meet.

The old marks were 20:03.1 by Jans Koster and 22:05.5 by L. Denijs, both of Holland. Miss Ruuska swam in a 50-meter pool, a requirement for recognition of her efforts.

I Was Hanged In Effigy Club Is Organized

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Sports Editor Ed Campbell of the Charleston News and Courier and five nationally known football coaches are charter members of an "I Was Hanged in Effigy" Club formed by Campbell.

Campbell named himself provisional president, commenting: "It was easy to swing the deal."

Cadets of The Citadel Military Academy hanged a dummy of Campbell last Wednesday night, apparently because of his suggestions that something other than marching Cadets entertain at halftime for The Citadel's football games.

Other charter members are Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, Bernie Oosterbaan of Michigan, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Bill Murray of Duke and Warren Giese of South Carolina.

Murray's comment: "I shall carry my card with honor. I wear a size 16½ collar and I can take a pretty good stretch."

Daugherty: "I always knew football coaches were supposed to have a great knowledge of the game. Now I see it also helps to have a strong neck."

Giese: "... I think that a qualification for membership should be that you be hanged before Halloween."

Oosterbaan, who resigned his job this week, and Hayes were not available for comment.

Idaho City, Idaho, had a population of 40,000 during the gold rush days of the 1860's. Today it has a population of 273.

Tigers Checked By Stout Defense

By ROB NIBLOCK

Wellsville's bid for an upset homecoming victory was foiled when a fleet Lisbon backfield led Bud Bucher's Blue Devils to a 36-0 triumph over the Tigers on a perfect football night at Nicholson Stadium Friday.

The district's four-ranked scorer, Denny Reese, sneaked over for two touchdowns in leading the Blue Devils to their sixth victory. It was the season finale for both elevens. It was the fourth consecutive triumph for Lisbon, which lost four mid-season contests.

Coach Ken Wood's Tigers, who finished with a 2-6-1 mark, were unable to solve the stiff Lisbon defense, penetrating no deeper than the Blue Devils' 38-yard line and having only an 82-yard total offense for the evening.

The offensive-minded Blue Devils, who racked up 245 points in 10 games, ground out 295 yards overland and passed for 77.

IT WAS the fourth-straight Lisbon win over Wellsville, which now has a 12-10 series edge—two games ending in ties.

Though the Lisbon victory was not comparable to the 68-0 drubbing it dished out to the Tigers last season, it was none the less an impressive win.

Scoring every period but the third, Lisbon was halted on only two scoring offenses.

Wellsville has missed the services of halfbacks Jim Stevens and Pat Creaturo. But these gridders are underclassmen, as is the entire Tiger backfield, which will give next year's squad a decided boost.

—:—

THREE capable linemen finished their scholastic grid play for Wellsville last night. Len Cuti, Dick Kountz and Ed Stone will be gone, but a host of sophomore and junior linemen, who gained valuable experience this year, will be returning.

Taking the opening kickoff, Wellsville began its first and only strong offensive thrust. Holding to the ground, the Tigers registered two consecutive first downs in moving from their own 35 to the Lisbon 38 before being halted.

Returning the Wellsville punt to its 35-yard line, Lisbon quickly got its attack rolling. In just eight plays it marched the distance for the first TD.

Reese, a versatile quarterback who is an adept runner, passer and signal-caller, ran five times in the drive. He sneaked over from the two at 2:40 of the first period. Denny Johnson's attempted rush for the extra points failed.

Unable to crack the Lisbon defense, Wellsville quick-kicked to the Blue Devil 29, where they promptly began another scoring march.

—:—

THE DRIVE which spanned two periods, ended when Johnson burst off left tackle and sprinted the 30 yards to the goal early in the second quarter. Reese's pass to Johnson for the attempted extra points was incomplete.

Just five plays later, the Blue Devils were again in scoring position when halfback Paul Fry intercepted a pass thrown by Wellsville quarterback Bob Kiggans at the Tiger 40, returning it to the 26.

Johnson carried to the 22 and then Reese pitched out to halfback Tom Brooks, who faked defenders at the line of scrimmage, and with a tremendous burst of speed, flashed the distance for the score.

Reese scored the extra points on a roll out and the Blue Devils had a 20-0 margin at 5:33 of the second stanza.

The Tigers controlled the pigskin for the remainder of the quarter but could get no farther than the Lisbon 42-yard line.

After taking the second half kickoff, Lisbon appeared goalward bound again. But the Tiger defense stiffened at the five and Reese attempted a fourth-down pass which end Bill Robinson caught behind the end zone boundary line.

—:—

LATE IN the third period, Lisbon was on the march again. With substitute halfback Fry handling most of the running chores, Lisbon concluded a 12-play scoring drive at 9:24 of the final quarter.

Fry plunged from the five and Johnson rushed for the extra points.

The final Lisbon drive appeared to be halted when Bob Kiggans intercepted a pass thrown from the 13-yard line at the goal with only minutes remaining. But two plays later, Lisbon recovered a Tiger fumble at the 23.

Johnson carried 13 yards to the 10, Reese rolled out for eight yards, and he then scored on the last play of the game from the two, with Fry plunging over for the extra points.

Move Launched To Cut NFL Draft To 25 Players

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A move is under way to limit the National Football League draft to 25 players.

Commissioner Bert Bell said Friday night he has asked NFL club owners if they favor reducing the draft from the present 30. Bell said he has already received three or four affirmative replies.

The NFL clubs will meet here Dec. 1 to make their first four selections in the annual draft. If league owners approve the draft reduction plan, it will go into effect at the annual meeting in January.

If approval is not unanimous, the proposal may be submitted in the form of a motion, in which case it will not be acted upon until the 1960 meeting.

Bayer Grabs Havana Lead

HAVANA (AP) — Big George Bayer is not satisfied at being acclaimed the longest hitter of the ball golf ever has known. He wants to be a champion.

"Long drives in themselves do not pay off," the towering former University of Washington tackle said today as he prepared to defend his 2-stroke lead in the $45,000 Havana International tournament. "The money comes from scores and I want to become the complete golfer."

The score paid off for the 6 foot 5, 240-pound athlete Friday. He fired a 6-under-par 64 which included a double eagle to forge to the front of 43 hand picked professionals in this Caribbean invitation tournament at the Villa Real Golf Club.

Bayer had a 36-hole score of 139 whcih gave him two shots over tough Doug Ford of Yonkers, N.Y., 1957 Masters champion, and boyish Tommy Jacobs of Monte Bello, Calif., a newcomer on the tour who were tied at 141.

Redhot favorite Sam Snead was still in a contending position with a 142 where he tied with Billy Maxwell of Dallas and Jay Hebert of Lafayette, La. Louisiana PGA champ Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, and Bill Casper Jr., of Chula Vista, Calif., who had 72s back to back were next in line with 144s.

Bayer had one of the most phenomenal rounds ever shot on a professional tour. It was below the record of 60 held by half a dozen pros but it was not made on one of the easy wide open courses which mark part of the tour.

Villa Real is a rugged 7,009-yard test which is similar in some respects to the seaside courses of of Scotland. It stretches along Florida Straits with stiff winds constantly blowing in from the seas.

The final two rounds were secheduled today and Sunday.

Alliance Continues Unbeaten In Thumping Potters, 52-0

Wellsville Bows To Lisbon, 36-0, In Homecoming Finale

Victors Run Wild In Third Quarter

By CHUCK CRONIN

East Liverpool became the ninth victim of mighty Alliance Friday night as the top-ranked Aviators put on a devastating offensive show and probably wrapped up the mythical 1958 Ohio football crown in humbling the Potters, 52-0, before a crowd of more than 5,500 at Patterson Field.

Four mercury - footed backs, led by slashing fullback Gene Venables and high - scoring Bob Brown, joined in a seven - touchdown parade of the undefeated but once - tied Stark County eleven.

It was the final game for both squads. The victory gave Alliance a 9-0-1 record, while the Potters finished with two victories, six defeats and two ties. It was the worst licking by an Alliance team for the Potters since a 54-7 trouncing in 1954.

LEADING ONLY 12-0 at halftime, Coach Mel Knowlton's speedsters struck like lightning early in the third quarter, going on a 32-point spree in 12 minutes and turning into a rout what looked like another thriller in the series between the two rivals.

After Brown scooted 65 yards on a punt return on the fourth play after halftime, the Aviator touchdown train chugged full steam ahead and was derailed only momentarily the remainder of the game.

Venables, a 164-pounder who seemed as hard to bring down as the New York Limited, was Mr. Big for the Aviators, scoring three touchdowns and adding three conversion rushes for 24 points.

Brown scored two touchdowns, both on long runs of 65 and 37 yards, and his punt return within minutes of the halftime kickoff was the turning point of the game. His 14 points last night gave him a total of 116 for the season.

VENABLES scored on bucks of 1, 5 and 7 yards. Alliance's other scores were made by quarterback Walter Zingg, on a 1 - yard slash, and nimble - footed Lee Woolf, the team's fastest man, on a 37 - yard dash.

The Aviators, who are only six points shy of being the state's top scoring team and are second in defense with only 34 points scored by opponents, were undoubtedly the finest aggregation the Potters met the entire season.

The classky backfield quartet of Brown, Venables, Woolf and Zingg is rated as the finest at Alliance High in many years. All are fast and elusive and have their jobs made easier by operating behind a hard - charging line.

Zingg, who completed six of 14 passes from his quarterback slot, threw with amazing accuracy and practically dropped the aerials into the "back pockets" of his receivers.

But while Alliance took all laurels in scoring, East Liverpool's All - Ohio guard candidate Nick Musuraca again proved his defensive prowess rates with the state's best in repeatedly making tackles all over the field.

ALONG WITH Musuraca, eight other seniors rang down the curtain on their football careers at East Liverpool High, including fullback Bill O'Neil, Pat Cooper, John McCullough, Ravenna Bell, Joe Leigh, Carl Ludwig, Dave Goodballet and John Horger. On the sidelines with injuries were two other seniors — Mike Kapp and Jim Clunk.

The Potters spent most of the night chasing Alliance halfbacks up and down the turf and managed to stage only two major scoring marches, both of which were held at least 10 yards short of a touchdown.

One came in the first quarter when Dave Zelch, Dave Goodballet, O'Neil and quarterback Bob Mackall alternated in carrying from the Potter 36 to the Alliance 20 in 10 plays including a 35-yard run by Zelch. The march was halted when a fourth - down pass fell incomplete

Late in the final quarter, Musuraca set up another scoring chance by hauling back a short kickoff 41 yards to the Alliance 31. A fumble three plays later at the Alliance 21 halted the drive.

—:—

THE REMAINDER of the game the Potters were forced to punt after picking up a few first downs and then running out of steam. Cookie Goodballet, a sophomore, stole the thunder in the punting department, booting six times for a 31 - yard average, a little better than that posted by Alliance's rugged end, Roy Allen. Allen, however, booted only once for 28 yards.

With several thousand fans in the stands, many from a fleet of chartered buses, Knowlton kept the pressure on the entire distance in hopes of gaining a firmer hold on first place in the Associated Press football poll.

The victory had to be impressive as second - place Marion High had been rapidly gaining poll points on the Aviators each week and finished the season with a 9-0 mark.

Alliance had been averaging 327.2 yards per game previous to Friday night, but the long runs reeled off by Brown and Woolf and Venable's slashes off tackle more than doubled the game average.

In piling up 529 yards on the ground while losing only four, Alliance finished with a 616 total yards gained to East Liverpool's 168—which was above the 162.3 average attained by previous victims.

The Potters rushed for 208 yards, but losses amounting to 54 yards cut sharply into their total yards gained rushing. Alliance had a 19-7 edge in first downs.

The 52 points scored by Alliance were the highest against the Potters in any game this season and wrote the final chapter to a dismal season, victory - wise.

—:—

ALLIANCE wasted no time in lighting up the scoreboard after receiving the opening kickoff and putting the ball in play on its own 35 - yard line.

Several quick jump passes from Zingg to Allen, three smashes by Venables and a short reverse with Woolf carrying enabled the winners to move 63 yards for their first touchdown in nine plays. With less than six minutes elapsed in the first period, Venables crashed over East Liverpool's left side for a 6-0 lead. His attempted run for the conversion was halted by Zelch.

After the kickoff, the Potters flashed their most impressive offensive punch of the night. Cooper returned the kickoff to the Potter 36 and a rush by O'Neil on the first play carried to the Potter 40.

On second down, Zelch stormed across the line, broke into the Alliance secondary and was finally hauled down after a 35 - yard dash to the Alliance 25. Mackall picked up 5 on a keeper, O'Neil bucked up the middle for three yards, but Goodballet was halted for no gain at the Alliance 19.

On fourth down, Zelch raced around left end to the Alliance 12 for another first down which kept the drive moving. However, Mackall went back to pass on the next play and Allen applied the skids to the march by hauling him down for a 14 - yard loss back to the Alliance 26.

A rush by Zelch got six yards on the next play, but two passes by Mackall went astray and the Aviators took possession on downs.

No more scoring chances came in the rest of the period for either team.

In the second quarter, an Alliance march was stopped at the Potter 22, a yard short of a first down. Only minutes later, Brown weaved his way 37 yards by outracing the Potter secondary for Alliance's second touchdown. Zingg's pass for the conversion fell incomplete. The Potters never crossed the midfield stripe in the second period. The deepest penetration in the second half by the Blue and White was to the Alliance 25.

A fumble recovered by Bill Coldsnow ended that drive. The 32 points in last night's third quarter were the most scored this year in any one period by the Aviators.

Cards Rip 16 Hits To Wallop Japs, 9-2

TOKYO (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, nearing the end of their 16-game exhibition tour, ripped off 16 hits today, including solo homers by Stan Musial and Don Blasingame, to wallop the Japan All-Stars 9-2.

Blasingame also singled and tripled in five times at bat. Third sacker Ken Boyer went 4-for-5 with three singles and a double.

Southpaw Vinegar Bend Mizell, who pitched the first six innings, and Jim Brosnan pitched a combined 6-hitter for the Cards.

Teenage Swim Queen Cracks 2 World Marks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Teenage swim queen Sylvia Ruuska smashed two world records for the 1500 meters and mile Friday night in an AAU-sanctioned meet at Treasure Island.

The young Berkeley, Calif., athlete swam the 1500 in 20:02.4 and the mile in 21:26.4 in the single-event meet.

The old marks were 20:03.1 by Jans Koster and 22:05.5 by L. Denijs, both of Holland. Miss Ruuska swam in a 50-meter pool, a requirement for recognition of her efforts.

I Was Hanged In Effigy Club Is Organized

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Sports Editor Ed Campbell of the Charleston News and Courier and five nationally known football coaches are charter members of an "I Was Hanged in Effigy" Club formed by Campbell.

Campbell named himself provisional president, commenting: "It was easy to swing the deal."

Cadets of The Citadel Military Academy hanged a dummy of Campbell last Wednesday night, apparently because of his suggestions that something other than marching Cadets entertain at halftime for The Citadel's football games.

Other charter members are Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, Bernie Oosterbaan of Michigan, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Bill Murray of Duke and Warren Giese of South Carolina.

Murray's comment: "I shall carry my card with honor. I wear a size 16½ collar and I can take a pretty good stretch."

Daugherty: "I always knew football coaches were supposed to have a great knowledge of the game. Now I see it also helps to have a strong neck."

Giese: "... I think that a qualification for membership should be that you be hanged before Halloween."

Oosterbaan, who resigned his job this week, and Hayes were not available for comment.

Idaho City, Idaho, had a population of 40,000 during the gold rush days of the 1860's. Today it has a population of 273.

Tigers Checked By Stout Defense

By ROB NIBLOCK

Wellsville's bid for an upset homecoming victory was foiled when a fleet Lisbon backfield led Bud Bucher's Blue Devils to a 36-0 triumph over the Tigers on a perfect football night at Nicholson Stadium Friday.

The district's four-ranked scorer, Denny Reese, sneaked over for two touchdowns in leading the Blue Devils to their sixth victory. It was the season finale for both elevens. It was the fourth consecutive triumph for Lisbon, which lost four mid-season contests.

Coach Ken Wood's Tigers, who finished with a 2-6-1 mark, were unable to solve the stiff Lisbon defense, penetrating no deeper than the Blue Devils' 38-yard line and having only an 82-yard total offense for the evening.

The offensive - minded Blue Devils, who racked up 245 points in 10 games, ground out 295 yards overland and passed for 77.

IT WAS the fourth-straight Lisbon win over Wellsville, which now has a 12-10 series edge—two games ending in ties.

Though the Lisbon victory was not comparable to the 68-0 drubbing it dished out to the Tigers last season, it was none the less an impressive win.

Scoring every period but the third, Lisbon was halted on only two scoring offenses.

Wellsville has missed the services of halfbacks Jim Stevens and Pat Creaturo. But these gridders are underclassmen, as is the entire Tiger backfield, which will give next year's squad a decided boost.

—:—

THREE capable linemen finished their scholastic grid play for Wellsville last night. Len Cuti, Dick Kountz and Ed Stone will be gone, but a host of sophomore and junior linemen, who gained valuable experience this year, will be returning.

Taking the opening kickoff, Wellsville began its first and only strong offensive thrust. Holding to the ground, the Tigers registered two consecutive first downs in moving from their own 35 to the Lisbon 38 before being halted.

Returning the Wellsville punt to its 35-yard line, Lisbon quickly got its attack rolling. In just eight plays it marched the distance for the first TD.

Reese, a versatile quarterback who is an adept runner, passer and signal-caller, ran five times in the drive. He sneaked over from the two at 2:40 of the first period. Denny Johnson's attempted rush for the extra points failed.

Unable to crack the Lisbon defense, Wellsville quick-kicked to the Blue Devil 29, where they promptly began another scoring march.

THE DRIVE which spanned two periods, ended when Johnson burst off left tackle and sprinted the 30 yards to the goal early in the second quarter. Reese's pass to Johnson for the attempted extra points was incomplete.

Just five plays later, the Blue Devils were again in scoring position when halfback Paul Fry intercepted a pass thrown by Wellsville quarterback Bob Kiggans at the Tiger 40, returning it to the 26.

Johnson carried to the 22 and then Reese pitched out to halfback Tom Brooks, who faked defenders at the line of scrimmage, and with a tremendous burst of speed, flashed the distance for the score.

Reese scored the extra points on a roll out and the Blue Devils had a 20-0 margin at 5:33 of the second stanza.

The Tigers controlled the pigskin for the remainder of the quarter but could get no farther than the Lisbon 42-yard line.

After taking the second half kickoff, Lisbon appeared goalward bound again. But the Tiger defense stiffened at the five and Reese attempted a fourth-down pass which end Bill Robinson caught behind the end zone boundary line.

LATE IN the third period, Lisbon was on the march again. With substitute halfback Fry handling most of the running chores, Lisbon concluded a 12-play scoring drive at 9:24 of the final quarter.

Fry plunged from the five and Johnson rushed for the extra points.

The final Lisbon drive appeared to be halted when Bob Kiggans intercepted a pass thrown from the 13-yard line at the goal with only minutes remaining. But two plays later, Lisbon recovered a Tiger fumble at the 23.

Johnson carried 13 yards to the 10, Reese rolled out for eight yards, and he then scored on the last play of the game from the two, with Fry plunging over for the extra points.

Move Launched To Cut NFL Draft To 25 Players

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A move is under way to limit the National Football League draft to 25 players.

Commissioner Bert Bell said Friday night he has asked NFL club owners if they favor reducing the draft from the present 30. Bell said he has already received three or four affirmative replies.

The NFL clubs will meet here Dec. 1 to make their first four selections in the annual draft. If league owners approve the draft reduction plan, it will go into effect at the annual meeting in January.

If approval is not unanimous, the proposal may be submitted in the form of a motion, in which case it will not be acted upon until the 1960 meeting.

Bayer Grabs Havana Lead

HAVANA (AP) — Big George Bayer is not satisfied at being acclaimed the longest hitter of the ball golf ever has known. He wants to be a champion.

"Long drives in themselves do not pay off," the towering former University of Washington tackle said today as he prepared to defend his 2-stroke lead in the $45,000 Havana International tournament. "The money comes from scores and I want to become the complete golfer."

The score paid off for the 6 foot 5, 240-pound athlete Friday. He fired a 6-under-par 64 which included a double eagle to forge to the front of 43 hand picked professionals in this Caribbean invitation tournament at the Villa Real Golf Club.

Bulldogs End Season With Perfect Slate

EAST PALESTINE — Senior fullback Beau Bell scored 22 points on three touchdowns and two rushing conversions in leading East Palestine High to its ninth consecutive win of the football season here Friday night over Bellaire St. John's, 52-6.

Bell, leading scorer in the East Liverpool district in 1957, scored on runs of 17 and 8 yards and added another on a one-yard plunge.

The victory over St. John's gave Coach Bob Mallory's Bulldogs an undefeated season record.

In the last three years, the Bulldogs, perennial power in the Columbiana County Class A ranks, have an amazing record of 28 victories and a single loss. The lone defeat in the span come in 1957 to Salem.

Palestine also captured the Tri County League championship this year, being the first school in the league's history to turn the trick three straight times.

Others joining in the scoring parade for the winners were Reese on a 64-yard run, Jim Wellendorf on a 15-yard pass from Woods, Jim Wisser on a 21-yard run and Art Herriott on a short buck.

It was the final football game for seven Palestine seniors.

Irons Beaten In Finale By Yorks, 22-6

IRONDALE—Coach Fred Sims' Irondale Irons wrote a losing season in the books here Friday afternoon when visiting Yorkville triumphed, 22-6, behind the bruising plunges of 220-pound fullback Jim Seach who scored two touchdowns and a rushing conversion.

The defeat gave the Irons 2-6 mark for the season while Coach Frank Lollini's Yorks finished on the winning side of the ledger with five victories and four defeats.

After a scoreless first quarter, Yorkville punched across two touchdowns and a conversion in the second period when Lander plunged one yard and the giant Seach added another on a short buck. Seach plunged over for a conversion following Yorkville's first touchdown.

Behind 14-0 at halftime, Irondale stormed back within striking distance of knotting the score when halfback John Pilutti raced 19 yards for a third-quarter touchdown. An attempted run for the conversion was halted.

However, fumbles and incomplete passes hampered the Irondale attack in the final period when Yorkville added an insurance touchdown on a pass from Gemson to Seach who rumbled 29 yards. Gemson flipped to Harding for the conversion.

A rugged ground game all the way, guards Lonnie Fraley and Ron Brammer were defensive standouts for the Irons. Brammer, Scott Patton and halfback Don Fraley, seniors, played their last game for the Irons.

6 Undefeated Teams Risk Records In College Ranks

By SHELDON SAKOWIT
Associated Press Writer

Six undefeated teams put their records on the line while others went after league titles or possible bowl bids as showdown games dotted the collegiate football front today.

Top-ranked Louisiana State and Rutgers, rated No. 19 in the weekly Associated Press poll, were the lone major unbeaten and untied schools. Iowa (No. 2), Army (No. 3), Auburn (No. 4) and the Air Force Academy (No. 10) were undefeated but tied.

LSU (8-0), aiming for the Southeastern Conference championship and a Sugar Bowl berth New Year's Day, met Mississippi State in a night game. The Bayou Bengals bowed to the Maroons 14-6 a year ago.

Rutgers, unscathed in seven games but without injured Billy Austin, played the Quantico Marines. The Scarlet Knights also had bowl ambitions.

Iowa, the Big Ten champs and heading for the Rose Bowl, was host to Ohio State, last year's titlists. The Hawkeyes (6-0-1), who have been tied only by the Air Force, were out to avenge last season's 17-14 setback at the hands of the Buckeyes, which cost Iowa the Big Ten diadem.

Army, with six victories and a stalemate with Pitt, didn't figure to encounter much resistance from Villanova. For the Cadets, it was their last game before clashing with Navy Nov. 29 in Philadelphia.

Defensive-minded Auburn (6-0-1) hoped to keep its Southeastern Conference hopes flickering against Georgia. A victory by the Tigers, combined with an LSU setback, would boost defending national champion Auburn into first place in the SEC. Auburn tied only by Georgia Tech, is on NCAA probation and ineligible for bowl bids.

The Air Force Academy, boasting five victories and the deadlock with Iowa, faced a possible tartar in Wyoming, the Skyline Conference pacesetter. The Falcons from Denver were considered a top candidate for either the Cotton or Gator bowls provided the Air Force brass in Washington approves.

In Friday's lone major game Maryland defeated Miami 26-14 in the Orange Bowl. John Forbes, ran rampant for the Terrapins, scoring three touchdowns.

The Hurricanes went reeling to their sixth defeat in seven games. Maryland's victory was its third against six losses.

Southpaw Bonnie Yarbrough passed 79 yards to Bob Rosbaugh for Miami's second touchdown in the final quarter to bring the Hurricanes to within 20-14. But the Terrapins withstood the Miami attack and clinched the verdict when Bob Rusevlyn plunged over from the 1 with 36 seconds left.

The Yarbrough-Rosbaugh pass play was the third longest in the annals of Miami football dating back to 1926.

The Terrapins overcame a 7-0 deficit to move in front at halftime 13-7 as quarterback Dick Scarbath triggered the drives. Forbes, in registering the Terps' first three TDs, scored on runs from the 8, 1 and 4. Rosbaugh tallied Miami's first touchdown, carrying over from the 10.

The Big Eight title and the host role in the Orange Bowl were at stake at Norman, Okla., where the sixth-ranked Sooners, undefeated in 69 consecutive league games, faced upstart Missouri. The game was regionally televised in the Big Eight area.

Texas Christian (No. 9) and Rice (No. 17), co-leaders of the Southwest Conference, were determed to continue their winning ways and set the stage for a showdown. TCU opposed Texas while Rice engaged Texas A&M. TCU and Rice come to grips next week in a game that should decide the title and a Cotton Bowl berth.

Mississippi (No. 7), hopeful of nods from either the Cotton, Orange or Gator Bowls, faced SEC rival Tennessee. North Carolina (No. 11), winner of six straight and also a bowl possibility, took on Notre Dame.

The other members of the top 10 to see action were Wisconsin (No. 5) against Illinois as the Badgers sought to solidy second place in the Big 10 and Purdue (No. 8) vs. Northwestern (No. 13) in a regionally televised fray.

Other games involving bowl contenders included Syracuse (No. 12) vs. Colgate, Pitt (No. 14) vs. Nebraska, SMU (No. 15) vs. Arkansas, Florida (No. 18) vs. Arkansas State and Georgia Tech (No. 20) vs. Alabama.

Panthers Go Down In Final At Follansbee

A big and rangy Follansbee eleven avenged a scoreless tie of last year by downing Chester, 13-0, Friday night at Follansbee's Stadium before some 3,000 spectators.

Coach Dom Amedeo's Panthers, who had only one scoring threat, ended a good season with a 5-3-2 record—two of the losses coming on the road.

Aside from a single scoring threat in the fourth period, Chester's attack was bottled up by the Steelmen's hard-charging forward wall.

Late in the second period, Follansbee began a 49-yard scoring march, climaxed by a plunge from the one by Beljac with 2:15 remaining. The placement by Pugh was good.

A 52-yard return after a pass interception by Pugh in the third quarter gave Follansbee its second and final touchdown. Pugh's attempted kick for the extra point was blocked.

Fumble recoveries by the Panthers halted Follansbee scoring threats in the first half.

The Steelmen drove to the Chester 13 in the first quarter where they fumbled and Chester end Larry Murray recovered. Later, they penetrated to the three, but a bobble recovered by Panther end John Moore cost them another scoring opportunity.

A fumble recovery by tackle Steve Chapko gave the Panthers the ball at their own 40 in the fourth period, and from there they began their only strong offensive. But after marching to the Follansbee 22, Chester was stopped cold.

Halfbacks Bill Mayhew and Kenny Sayre and fullback Don Shaw carried the brunt of the Chester attack, and Shaw performed brilliantly on defense, making numerous stops in the secondary.

City Golfer Repeats Hole-In-One Drive

Martin Sheerer wasn't too surprised when he made a hole-in-one at the East Palestine Country Club Tuesday—it was a repeat of the same feat at the same hole three years ago!

The St. Clair Ave. resident was with Cecil Pugh, Omar Hargreaves and Sky Bevins when the foursome halted at the No. 2 hole.

Sheerer teed off for the 165-yard drive and the ball landed near the cup and rolled in.

P. S. His score for the round was 33—3 under par.

Crucial Contests On Tap Sunday In Pro Grid Loop

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The quarterback situation in the National Football League is startling.

In pro football the quarterback is comparable to the pitcher in major league baseball. If you do not have a good one, you're in trouble.

Yet here is the situation as the NFL hits the two-thirds mark of the 1958 season with a full schedule of six games Sunday:

The Baltimore Colts are at Chicago for a Western Conference showdown with the Bears. Johnny Unitas, the Colts' star quarterback, is still on the injury list. The Bears, who have lacked a really superior signal-caller since Sid Luckman retired a decade ago, again must go with a combination of Ed Brown, Zeke Bratkowski and George Blanda.

The Cleveland Browns, beaten two straight because their passing game could not bail out a stalled running attack, are at the Washington Redskins, who got the word Friday that No. 1 quarterback Eddie LeBaron was ailing and not being counted on to face the Browns. Either little-used Ralph Guglielmi or untested Rudy Bukick will have to guide the Redskins if LeBaron fails to recover from a flu-type attack.

The Browns will again go with Milt Plum, but last week he had to be lifted for rookie Jim Ninowski when unable to pass effectively in the Browns' loss to the Lions.

San Francisco, with Y. A. Tittle back at the helm amid reports his morale needs boosting, is at Detroit, where Tobin Rote, perhaps the top all-around signal-caller in the league awaits them.

The Chicago Cardinals, with veteran Lamar McHan and rookie M. C. Reynolds alternately losing the QB job, are at Philadelphia. Norm Van Brocklin, former Los Angeles star, can still throw that ball for the Eagles, but he is at a definite disadvantage in this era of running quarterbacks.

Green Bay, able to score only one touchdown in the last two games under the direction of Babe Parilli and Bart Starr, is home to the Los Angeles Rams and the much-improved Billy Wade.

Only at Pittsburgh, where the charged-up New York Giants meet the Steelers can a top quarterbacking battle be expected. And then it will be only if the often-erratic Charley Conerly of the Giants can continue his standout play of the last two weeks.

Bobby Layne, who will guide the Steelers, couldn't connect for a TD pass for three games after coming to Pittsburgh in a trade, but he has thrown for seven in the past two games.

The Giants (5-2) are tied with Cleveland for the Eastern Conference lead and are four-point favorites over the Steelers (3-4).

The Colts (6-1) have a capable replacement for Unitas in George Shaw, but even with three scoring strikes last week, Shaw was unable to beat the Giants. Baltimore's 24-21 loss tightened the Western race, and the Bears (5-2) have much the better of the schedule the rest of the way.

Mel Ott, Ex-Big League Star, Critically Hurt In Car Wreck

Ott was hurt Friday night in a two-car collision. The wreck seriously injured Ott's wife and killed the driver of the other car, Leslie S. Curry Sr., 50, of Bay St. Louis.

The former ace fielder and batter for the New York Giants, who broke into major league baseball when 17 years old and still holds the National League career home run record with 511, was in shock with multiple injuries.

Physicians said Ott had internal injuries, both legs broken and cuts about the head and arms.

Mrs. Ott had a brain concussion, a broken arm and cuts.

Officers were unable to determine how the accident happened. Both Ott and his wife were unable to talk. There were no other known witnesses to the crash.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death in Curry's case.

Ott, a resident of Metairie, La., near New Orleans, was born at Gretna, La., also near New Orleans.

He retired from baseball in Jan. 1953 and went into the building construction business in New Orleans. In 1955 he took a job as a baseball announcer. During the baseball season he has worked as one of the play-by-play broadcasters on Detroit Tiger games.

Ott played 22 seasons from 1926 through 1947. Four times he was home run leader in the National League. He played 2,730 games and had a lifetime batting average of .304.

Ott was named Giants manager in 1942. He managed the club six full seasons before resigning July 16, 1948.

Ott helped in the Giants' farm system between 1948 and 1950. He managed the Oakland Pacific Coast League team in 1951 and 1952.

Clippers Win Second Game In 12-8 Upset

COLUMBIANA—Though able to compile only one other victory this season, the Clippers of Columbiana High finished impressively by upsetting Louisville, 12-8, here Friday night.

Louisville, which earlier in the season had defeated both Lisbon and Leetonia—two strong district teams—scored only in the final period on an eight-yard pass caught by Daryl Wartluft. Johnson scored the extra points on a pass.

Gary Perkins led the victorious Clippers, who lost seven games this season, by scoring both touchdowns.

He broke loose for a 49-yard scoring dash in the third period and registered again in the fourth by catching an 11-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Ray Baltz.

Pass attempts for both Columbiana point after tries failed.

Shea, Frick Trade Verbal Blasts On 'Third League'

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—William A. Shea, who shocked baseball brass almost breathless with his talk of a third major league, resumed his barrage today by accusing the majors of "not playing square with us."

But Commissioner Ford Frick stayed right in the act.

"I still don't get it," he said. "If these so-called responsible parties who are to launch a third major league are sincere and mean to operate within the scope of organized baseball, why haven't they come to see me?"

Shea, chairman of the Mayor's Committee to bring another major league team to New York, said his group intended to operate within the framework of organized baseball.

"We never intended to mention anything about an outlaw league," said Shea. "We merely said that if organized baseball refused to accept our package plan once we had it worked out, we'd then work outside baseball.

"But that isn't our intention and never was. Anyway, suppose we were forced to operate an independent league. Who is to say we are the outlaws and organized baseball isn't? Since when does it make you an outlaw to go into competitive business?"

In answer to Frick, Shea pointed out that at the moment he has nothing concrete to offer. He thinks if he went to Frick, the commissioner would tell him to complete his spadework, then come back.

"I am in contact with all those parties I am assured stand prepared to operate a major league franchise throughout the country," Shea said. "When we have the package assembled and with bona fide guarantees attached, we'll go to the commissioner and ask him how we go about coming into the baseball picture as a third major league."

Shea declined to name the cities he was doing business with, but there are several, including Houston, Tex., and Minneapolis-St. Paul along with Toronto, Canada, which are straining at the bit for a major league franchise.

Alliance Receives Roaring Welcome From Home Fans

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Alliance High School's football team, which completed an unbeaten season Friday night, got a roaring reception from an estimated 5,000 fans when it returned home.

The Aviators, ranked No. 1 in the state in The Associated Press poll, clubbed East Liverpool 52-0 on the Potters' field.

When the team got back to Alliance, it found a cheering crowd lining the street from the city limits to the American Legion Hall. There, a victory celebration was held.

Police estimated that 3,500 automobiles lined the route.

One sign along the way proclaimed, "Mel Knowlton for President!" Knowlton coaches the Aviators, who had only a tie to blot an otherwise perfect 1958 record.

Bulldogs End Season With Perfect Slate

EAST PALESTINE — Senior fullback Beau Bell scored 22 points on three touchdowns and two rushing conversions in leading East Palestine High to its ninth consecutive win of the football season here Friday night over Bellaire St. John's, 52-6.

Bell, leading scorer in the East Liverpool district in 1957, scored on runs of 17 and 8 yards and added another on a one-yard plunge.

The victory over St. John's gave Coach Bob Mallory's Bulldogs an undefeated season record.

In the last three years, the Bulldogs, perennial power in the Columbiana County Class A ranks, have an amazing record of 28 victories and a single loss. The lone defeat in the span come in 1957 to Salem.

Palestine also captured the Tri County League championship this year, being the first school in the league's history to turn the trick three straight times.

Others joining in the scoring parade for the winners were Reese on a 64-yard run, Jim Wellendorf on a 15-yard pass from Woods, Jim Wisser on a 21-yard run and Art Herriott on a short buck.

It was the final football game for seven Palestine seniors.

Halfback Rich Cavicchia scored St. John's only touchdown in the fourth quarter on a one-yard plunge after setting up the score by running 33 yards on a reverse. His rush for the conversion failed.

Irons Beaten In Finale By Yorks, 22-6

IRONDALE—Coach Fred Sims' Irondale Irons wrote a losing season in the books here Friday afternoon when visiting Yorkville triumphed, 22-6, behind the bruising plunges of 220-pound fullback Jim Seach who scored two touchdowns and a rushing conversion.

The defeat gave the Irons 2-6 mark for the season while Coach Frank Lollini's Yorks finished on the winning side of the ledger with five victories and four defeats.

After a scoreless first quarter, Yorkville punched across two touchdowns and a conversion in the second period when Lander plunged one yard and the giant Seach added another on a short buck. Seach plunged over for a conversion following Yorkville's first touchdown.

Behind 14-0 at halftime, Irondale stormed back within striking distance of knotting the score when halfback John Pilutti raced 19 yards for a third-quarter touchdown. An attempted run for the conversion was halted.

However, fumbles and incomplete passes hampered the Irondale attack in the final period when Yorkville added an insurance touchdown on a pass from Gemson to Seach who rumbled 29 yards. Gemson flipped to Harding for the conversion.

A rugged ground game all the way, guards Lonnie Fraley and Ron Brammer were defensive standouts for the Irons. Brammer, Scott Patton and halfback Don Fraley, seniors, played their last game for the Irons.

Crucial Contests On Tap Sunday In Pro Grid Loop

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The quarterback situation in the National Football League is startling.

In pro football the quarterback is comparable to the pitcher in major league baseball. If you do not have a good one, you're in trouble.

Yet here is the situation as the NFL hits the two-thirds mark of the 1958 season with a full schedule of six games Sunday:

The Baltimore Colts are at Chicago for a Western Conference showdown with the Bears. Johnny Unitas, the Colts' star quarterback, is still on the injury list. The Bears, who have lacked a really superior signal-caller since Sid Luckman retired a decade ago, again must go with a combination of Ed Brown, Zeke Bratkowski and George Blanda.

The Cleveland Browns, beaten two straight because their passing game could not bail out a stalled running attack, are at the Washington Redskins, who got the word Friday that No. 1 quarterback Eddie LeBaron was ailing and not being counted on to face the Browns. Either little-used Ralph Guglielmi or untested Rudy Bukick will have to guide the Redskins if LeBaron fails to recover from a flu-type attack.

The Browns will again go with Milt Plum, but last week he had to be lifted for rookie Jim Ninowski when unable to pass effectively in the Browns' loss to the Lions.

San Francisco, with Y. A. Tittle back at the helm amid reports his morale needs boosting, is at Detroit, where Tobin Rote, perhaps the top all-around signal-caller in the league awaits them.

The Chicago Cardinals, with veteran Lamar McHan and rookie M. C. Reynolds alternately losing the QB job, are at Philadelphia. Norm Van Brocklin, former Los Angeles star, can still throw that ball for the Eagles, but he is at a definite disadvantage in this era of running quarterbacks.

Green Bay, able to score only one touchdown in the last two games under the direction of Babe Parilli and Bart Starr, is home to the Los Angeles Rams and the much-improved Billy Wade.

Only at Pittsburgh, where the charged-up New York Giants meet the Steelers can a top quarterbacking battle be expected. And then it will be only if the oftenerratic Charley Conerly of the Giants can continue his standout play of the last two weeks.

Bobby Layne, who will guide the Steelers, couldn't connect for a TD pass for three games after coming to Pittsburgh in a trade, but he has thrown for seven in the past two games.

The Giants (5-2) are tied with Cleveland for the Eastern Conference lead and are four-point favorites over the Steelers (3-4).

The Colts (6-1) have a capable replacement for Unitas in George Shaw, but even with three scoring strikes last week, Shaw was unable to beat the Giants. Baltimore's 24-21 loss tightened the Western race, and the Bears (5-2) have much the better of the schedule the rest of the way.

Mel Ott, Ex-Big League Star, Critically Hurt In Car Wreck

Ott was hurt Friday night in a two-car collision. The wreck seriously injured Ott's wife and killed the driver of the other car, Leslie S. Curry Sr., 50, of Bay St. Louis.

The former ace fielder and batter for the New York Giants, who broke into major league baseball when 17 years old and still holds the National League career home run record with 511, was in shock with multiple injuries.

Physicians said Ott had internal injuries, both legs broken and cuts about the head and arms.

Mrs. Ott had a brain concussion, a broken arm and cuts.

Officers were unable to determine how the accident happened. Both Ott and his wife were unable to talk. There were no other known witnesses to the crash.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death in Curry's case.

Ott, a resident of Metairie, La., near New Orleans, was born at Gretna, La., also near New Orleans.

He retired from baseball in Jan. 1953 and went into the building construction business in New Orleans. In 1955 he took a job as a baseball announcer. During the baseball season he has worked as one of the play-by-play broadcasters on Detroit Tiger games.

Ott played 22 seasons from 1926 through 1947. Four times he was home run leader in the National League. He played 2,730 games and had a lifetime batting average of .304.

Ott was named Giants manager in 1942. He managed the club six full seasons before resigning July 16, 1948.

Ott helped in the Giants' farm system between 1948 and 1950. He managed the Oakland Pacific Coast League team in 1951 and 1952.

Clippers Win Second Game In 12-8 Upset

COLUMBIANA—Though able to compile only one other victory this season, the Clippers of Columbiana High finished impressively by upsetting Louisville, 12-8, here Friday night.

Louisville, which earlier in the season had defeated both Lisbon and Leetonia—two strong district teams—scored only in the final period on an eight-yard pass caught by Daryl Wartluft. Johnson scored the extra points on a pass.

Gary Perkins led the victorious Clippers, who lost seven games this season, by scoring both touchdowns.

He broke loose for a 49-yard scoring dash in the third period and registered again in the fourth by catching an 11-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Ray Baltz.

Pass attempts for both Columbiana point after tries failed.

Shea, Frick Trade Verbal Blasts On 'Third League'

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—William A. Shea, who shocked baseball brass almost breathless with his talk of a third major league, resumed his barrage today by accusing the majors of "not playing square with us."

But Commissioner Ford Frick stayed right in the act.

"I still don't get it," he said. "If these so-called responsible parties who are to launch a third major league are sincere and mean to operate within the scope of organized baseball, why haven't they come to see me?"

Shea, chairman of the Mayor's Committee to bring another major league team to New York, said his group intended to operate within the framework of organized baseball.

"We never intended to mention anything about an outlaw league," said Shea. "We merely said that if organized baseball refused to accept our package plan once we had it worked out, we'd then work outside baseball.

"But that isn't our intention and never was. Anyway, suppose we were forced to operate an independent league. Who is to say we are the outlaws and organized baseball isn't? Since when does it make you an outlaw to go into competitive business?"

In answer to Frick, Shea pointed out that at the moment he has nothing concrete to offer. He thinks if he went to Frick, the commissioner would tell him to complete his spadework, then come back.

"I am in contact with all those parties I am assured stand prepared to operate a major league franchise throughout the country," Shea said. "When we have the package assembled and with bona fide guarantees attached, we'll go to the commissioner and ask him how we go about coming into the baseball picture as a third major league."

Shea declined to name the cities he was doing business with, but there are several, including Houston, Tex., and Minneapolis-St. Paul along with Toronto, Canada, which are straining at the bit for a major league franchise.

Alliance Receives Roaring Welcome From Home Fans

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Alliance High School's football team, which completed an unbeaten season Friday night, got a roaring reception from an estimated 5,000 fans when it returned home.

The Aviators, ranked No. 1 in the state in The Associated Press poll, clubbed East Liverpool 52-0 on the Potters' field.

When the team got back to Alliance, it found a cheering crowd lining the street from the city limits to the American Legion Hall. There, a victory celebration was held.

Police estimated that 3,500 automobiles lined the route.

One sign along the way proclaimed, "Mel Knowlton for President!" Knowlton coaches the Aviators, who had only a tie to blot an otherwise perfect 1958 record.

School Supt. Ralph H. Jewell discussed the use and importance of audio - visual aids in education at the meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday evening at Larry's Restaurant. He is a member of the club.

He said teaching today is becoming more difficult and better and faster techniques must be used to do a good job.

He introduced Howard Thorne, director of audio-visual instruction at Lincoln High School, who screened color slides explaining the aids.

The slides, entitled "The Case of the Curious Citizen," showed such aids as flash cards for arithmetic classes, sectional boards for geometry problems, flip charts for learning words, slides and projectors with controlled speed and scan-a-page machines to develop reading abilities.

Jewell said Midland schools have most of these aids and a few that were not shown on the slides.

On a motion by Jewell, the club voted to become a 200 per cent member of the Rotary Foundation, which sponsors fellowships or scholarships for members.

David Schwerha, president, explained that each member will pay $1 a year until the 200 per cent is reached. For 100 per cent, each member's quota is $10.

A committee, Charles Smith, chairman, Homer Paul, James Migliore and Jewell, met afterwards to discuss plans for a visit to a distant club.

The next meeting will be Thursday at 6:15 p. m. at Larry's Restaurant.

Salineville Man On Vacation

Mailman Retires After 37 Years

William H. Finney of Monroeville Heights completed 37 years of delivering mail on Salineville R. D. 2 Thursday—but he's still as puzzled about his appointment as the day he was notified.

An East End resident, Finney had applied for the carrier's job on R. D. 2 out of the Station A office here!

"I knew the East Liverpool territory, which included Calcutta and Fredericktown, but I had never been in Salineville except to pass through on a train."

"The first days were pretty confusing. I would come to a fork in the road and didn't know which way to turn. If it was light enough to read the addresses, I figured I was on time."

What puzzled Finney was that postal regulations required the applicant to be a patron of the office from which he would work, and also stipulated that carriers would be appointed only for the route for which they applied.

He has no ready explanation of the unexpected switch. "I could understand if I had been the only one involved but three other men also were switched around."

"Another East Liverpool man also was assigned to a Salineville rural route, a Columbiana man was given a rural assignment from the East Liverpool office, and an East Rochester applicant was sent to the Columbiana area.

But Finney was intent on becoming a mail carrier so he accepted the appointment and started the Salineville route Oct. 17, 1921. He began his vacation Friday and his retirement is effective Dec. 1.

He went to Salineville 10 days early to locate a house but the village was booming and none could be found. He rented a room for several weeks before finding a place.

His first route was 25 miles long and had 96 patrons. It now is 51 miles long, covering 3 townships in Columbiana County and 2 in Carroll County and has some 200 patrons.

Finney estimates he wore out 17 cars covering the route, averaging 15,000 to 18,000 miles a year. But when he had time off, he didn't take a "busman's holiday."

"After driving all week, I didn't feel like doing much traveling," he commented.

Driving was much tougher then, the veteran carrier recalled, with only three miles of improved roads when he started. The remainder of the route was a constant battle with mud, dust or snowdrifts.

Finney alternated between a car and horses when he started, using autos in the summer and horses in the winter for the first 12 years. His first horse-drawn vehicle was a two-wheel cart and he then graduated to a covered mail wagon drawn by two horses. Finney kept three horses, alternating them on the route.

He recalled many times winter snows were piled so high on the roads he had to leave the horse and walk to various residences. And it wasn't much better in cars, Finney explained, pointing out he sometimes was stuck in drifts so big he was unable to open the car door and had to crawl out the window.

Two years ago Finney received an award for driving for 35 years without an accident. And then the inevitable happened. A month later he was involved in a collision on an icy road.

After fighting the winter for so long, he has been looking forward to life in Florida but Mrs. Finney is more content to stay near their family. It included 3 daughters, a son, 11 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren.

"I have five acres of ground so I guess I can find plenty to do."

Bank Officer Draws Term

Toronto Man Given 3 Years In Prison

Robert H. MacLean, who was manager of the consumer credit department of a Toronto bank, received terms of 3 years in prison on four counts when he pleaded guilty to embezzlement of $658 in Federal District Court at Columbus Friday.

He had been employed by the Toronto branch of the Union Savings Bank & Trust Co. of Steubenville.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Loren G. Windom said the thefts actually totaled more than $21,000 over a two - year period, although the indictment listed only four instances of embezzling relatively small amounts.

MacLean and his wife sold their house and made some small restitution, the defendant's attorney told the court, adding that his client admitted to only $10,380 in embezzlements.

Judge Mell G. Underwood sentenced MacLean to concurrent terms.

The judge issued a scathing denunciation of banks when the next case came up. It involved Daniel Stagani of Follansbee, who was a teller in the main office of the same bank that employed MacLean. Stagani pleaded guilty to embezzling $3,000 over an 18-month period.

"Some of these banks pay these boys starvation salaries . . . Not in keeping with the standard of living," Julge Underwood commented. His remark came after Stagani told him he started out at $150 a month salary and was making $260 when indicted.

The judge pointed out that temptation often motivates a low-salaried employe, but added, "Of course, that's no excuse to steal." He sentenced Stagani to a year and a day.

Salineville Man On Vacation

Mailman Retires After 37 Years

William H. Finney of Monroeville Heights completed 37 years of delivering mail on Salineville R. D. 2 Thursday—but he's still as puzzled about his appointment as the day he was notified.

An East End resident, Finney had applied for the carrier's job on R. D. 2 out of the Station A office here!

"I knew the East Liverpool territory, which included Calcutta and Fredericktown, but I had never been in Salineville except to pass through on a train."

"The first days were pretty confusing. I would come to a fork in the road and didn't know which way to turn. If it was light enough to read the addresses, I figured I was on time."

What puzzled Finney was that postal regulations required the applicant to be a patron of the office from which he would work, and also stipulated that carriers would be appointed only for the route for which they applied.

He has no ready explanation of the unexpected switch. "I could understand if I had been the only one involved but three other men also were switched around."

"Another East Liverpool man also was assigned to a Salineville rural route, a Columbiana man was given a rural assignment from the East Liverpool office, and an East Rochester applicant was sent to the Columbiana area.

But Finney was intent on becoming a mail carrier so he accepted the appointment and started the Salineville route Oct. 17, 1921. He began his vacation Friday and his retirement is effective Dec. 1.

He went to Salineville 10 days early to locate a house but the village was booming and none could be found. He rented a room for several weeks before finding a place.

His first route was 25 miles long and had 96 patrons. It now is 51 miles long, covering 3 townships in Columbiana County and 2 in Carroll County and has some 200 patrons.

Finney estimates he wore out 17 cars covering the route, averaging 15,000 to 18,000 miles a year. But when he had time off, he didn't take a "busman's holiday."

"After driving all week, I didn't feel like doing much traveling," he commented.

Driving was much tougher then, the veteran carrier recalled, with only three miles of improved roads when he started. The remainder of the route was a constant battle with mud, dust or snowdrifts.

Finney alternated between a car and horses when he started, using autos in the summer and horses in the winter for the first 12 years. His first horse-drawn vehicle was a two-wheel cart and he then graduated to a covered mail wagon drawn by two horses. Finney kept three horses, alternating them on the route.

He recalled many times winter snows were piled so high on the roads he had to leave the horse and walk to various residences. And it wasn't much better in cars, Finney explained, pointing out he sometimes was stuck in drifts so big he was unable to open the car door and had to crawl out the window.

Two years ago Finney received an award for driving for 35 years without an accident. And then the inevitable happened. A month later he was involved in a collision on an icy road.

After fighting the winter for so long, he has been looking forward to life in Florida but Mrs. Finney is more content to stay near their family. It included 3 daughters, a son, 11 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren.

"I have five acres of ground so I guess I can find plenty to do."

Bank Officer Draws Term

Toronto Man Given 3 Years In Prison

Robert H. MacLean, who was manager of the consumer credit department of a Toronto bank, received terms of 3 years in prison on four counts when he pleaded guilty to embezzlement of $658 in Federal District Court at Columbus Friday.

He had been employed by the Toronto branch of the Union Savings Bank & Trust Co. of Steubenville.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Loren G. Windom said the thefts actually totaled more than $21,000 over a two - year period, although the indictment listed only four instances of embezzling relatively small amounts.

MacLean and his wife sold their house and made some small restitution, the defendant's attorney told the court, adding that his client admitted to only $10,380 in embezzlements.

Judge Mell G. Underwood sentenced MacLean to concurrent terms.

The judge issued a scathing denunciation of banks when the next case came up. It involved Daniel Stagani of Follansbee, who was a teller in the main office of the same bank that employed MacLean. Stagani pleaded guilty to embezzling $3,000 over an 18-month period.

"Some of these banks pay these boys starvation salaries . . . Not in keeping with the standard of living," Julge Underwood commented. His remark came after Stagani told him he started out at $150 a month salary and was making $260 when indicted.

The judge pointed out that temptation often motivates a low-salaried employe, but added, "Of course, that's no excuse to steal." He sentenced Stagani to a year and a day.

Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti commended both departments for efficient work, and pointed out the air - paks, purchased with city income tax funds, enabled the firemen to enter the building.

An estimated 20 persons occupied rooms in two hotels on the top floors of the building. They are operated by Mrs. Pearl Buzzard, 131½ W. 6th St., and Anthony Flara, 129½ W. 6th St.

It was the department's second call to the immediate area in about nine hours.

They were called to an adjoining warehouse of the Triangle Products Co. around 11 a. m. when a passerby saw smoke from the building and thought it might be on fire.

Workmen had entered the building to clean it and started a fire in a stove, firemen said.

A $15,000 blaze a week ago yesterday damaged the warehouse and Bennett's Grocery and Instant Lunch. The cause of this blaze still is under investigation.

The Rapport Building and the two on the adjoining lot — the warehouse and the structure housing the Bennett Grocery and the Instant Lunch — are owned by Maurice Rapport.

Firemen were called to 1060 St. Clair Ave. at 8::19 p. m. when a car owned by Robert R. Moore of Cain Heights backfired and the wiring caught fire.

The driver extinguished the blaze before the department arrived, but firemen checked the wiring before allowing the truck to be moved. Some wiring had to be replaced, they said.

Little Rock

Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, the Arkansas Gazette and national news magazines.

Karam referred to the Gazette, Little Rock's morning newspaper, as "the daily worker" and warned that its executive editor, Harry S. Ashmore, would wage a campaign of character assassination against him.

Karam had promised to reveal at the meeting a slate of five candidates who would follow his platform, but he said he would not do so because he did not want to involve them in this character assassination.

All six school board positions will be open in the Dec. 6 school election because of the resignation Wednesday night of five members and the expiring term of the sixth.

Karam's platform, apparently based on the assumption that the city's four high schools will be reopened on an integrated basis by court order, requires rigid health and achievement examinations for all students in all grades.

He would not say that the platform was aimed at Negroes, but he quoted statistics which he said proved many Negroes could not meet his standards.

He indicated that he felt the effect of his program would be to force Negroes to return voluntarily to their own schools.

Fire

Safety - Service Director Dan Maggianetti commended both departments for efficient work, and pointed out the air - paks, purchased with city income tax funds, enabled the firemen to enter the building.

An estimated 20 persons occupied rooms in two hotels on the top floors of the building. They are operated by Mrs. Pearl Buzzard, 131½ W. 6th St., and Anthony Flara, 129½ W. 6th St.

It was the department's second call to the immediate area in about nine hours.

They were called to an adjoining warehouse of the Triangle Products Co. around 11 a. m. when a passerby saw smoke from the building and thought it might be on fire.

Workmen had entered the building to clean it and started a fire in a stove, firemen said.

A $15,000 blaze a week ago yesterday damaged the warehouse and Bennett's Grocery and Instant Lunch. The cause of this blaze still is under investigation.

The Rapport Building and the two on the adjoining lot — the warehouse and the structure housing the Bennett Grocery and the Instant Lunch — are owned by Maurice Rapport.

Firemen were called to 1060 St. Clair Ave. at 8::19 p. m. when a car owned by Robert R. Moore of Cain Heights backfired and the wiring caught fire.

The department was called to check the wiring on a tank truck at the Standard Oil Co. bulk plant near Patterson Field at 9:20 p.m.

The driver extinguished the blaze before the department arrived, but firemen checked the wiring before allowing the truck to be moved. Some wiring had to be replaced, they said.

Car Hits Culvert, Hurting 3 Youths

LISBON — Three area teenagers were injured when their car smashed into a culvert and tree about 12:30 a. m. today on Route 154 a mile and a half west of Rogers.

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol said Charles G. Pasco, 16, of R. D. 4 was traveling west at a high rate of speed. He lost control of the car on a railroad crossing. The car then went off the right side of the highway and hit the culvert and tree, officers said.

The car was demolished. Pasco was cited for reckless driving.

Pasco received a laceration of the forehead. Darrell Shaffer, 15, of R. D. 4 suffered a fractured leg and laceration of the forehead and Charles Blake, 16, of Lisbon received severe lacerations of the right elbow. Shaffer and Blake were passengers.

All were treated at Salem City Hospital.

North Side Woman Says Prowler Hit Her

A North Side woman told police early today she was struck on the head by a prowler when she opened the rear door to investigate a noise.

Mrs. William M. Davis, 1515 Jennings Ave., called police at 4:30 a. m. to report the incident.

She told Patrolmen William Nott and Charles Winters she was in the kitchen when she heard a noise on the rear porch. When she opened the door, she was struck a glancing blow on the head by a young man wearing a gray jacket who had dark, curly hair.

Officers said they were unable to find any footprints on the porch despite the early - morning rain and there were no marks on Mrs. Davis.

Hunts Back-Scratcher

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Police decided to arrest John Plyman, 61, of Louisville, Ky., on a disorderly conduct charge. The complaint: Officers said Plyman was going from door to door looking for someone to scratch his back.

Little Rock

Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, the Arkansas Gazette and national news magazines.

Karam referred to the Gazette, Little Rock's morning newspaper, as "the daily worker" and warned that its executive editor, Harry S. Ashmore, would wage a campaign of character assassination against him.

Karam had promised to reveal at the meeting a slate of five candidates who would follow his platform, but he said he would not do so because he did not want to involve them in this character assassination.

All six school board positions will be open in the Dec. 6 school election because of the resignation Wednesday night of five members and the expiring term of the sixth.

Karam's platform, apparently based on the assumption that the city's four high schools will be reopened on an integrated basis by court order, requires rigid health and achievement examinations for all students in all grades.

He would not say that the platform was aimed at Negroes, but he quoted statistics which he said proved many Negroes could not meet his standards.

He indicated that he felt the effect of his program would be to force Negroes to return voluntarily to their own schools.

Sound movies produced by the American Bar Association and American Medical Association will be shown.

Lang will preside. Atty. George A. Aronson will be in charge of the program.

Watson was arrested at the Mural Bar on the Chester-Newell Rd. and Simcox at the Stutz Bar on Carolina Ave. at 6th St. About 15 bottles of whisky were seized by Chester police in the quick raids.

2 Wellsville Autoists Cited After Collision

Two Wellsville drivers were cited following a collision of their cars Friday afternoon at 4:40 at 5th and Lisbon Sts., Wellsville, police said.

Thomas W. Snyder of Wellsville R. D. and June Davis, 531 Buckeye Ave., were involved. Snyder was arrested for reckless operation and the woman was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way.

A minor fender-bender Friday night at 11 at 9th and Center Sts. involved cars driven by Otto T. Jennings of LaCroft and Robert Delpozen of Whitaker Apartments, Wellsville, police said.

U.S. Operation Seen Unless Rails Get Aid

Lions Speaker Says Carriers Investment Return 'Ridiculous'

"Unless the nation's railroads get help, the lines eventually will have to be operated by the government," a veteran railroad official predicted in an address to the Lions Club Friday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

Rex P. Reebel, Erie Railroad freight agent at Warren and railroader for 40 years, declared, "The average return for railroads on their investment is under 4 per cent, which is ridiculous." Utilities receive at least 6 per cent, he continued.

The railroads would like to see their competitors — trucks, airlines and users of inland waterways — pay more for what they receive, Reebel said. He explained the railroads built the Union Terminal in Washington at a cost of $23 million, pay the operating costs and $650,000 in taxes yearly. At the same time, the Washington National Airport was constructed by the government at a cost of $32 million and while airlines pay a fee it is not sufficient to meet the operating costs.

The government spends millions yearly on inland waterways, widening and deepening channels and constructing new dams to speed navigation but the users, with a few exceptions, don't pay a penny, he asserted.

"Waterways traditionally have been free but should they remain free when the government spends huge sums yearly to maintain them?", Reebel asked.

The nation's highways are valued at $50 billion and additional $33 billion is being spent on the new federal road program. Tax money will be used for the construction but only a small percentage of it will come from license fees and gasoline taxes, he said.

The railroads applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for lower rates so they could compete but the ICC refused. A new transportation act is supposed to see some changes but cases still are pending before the ICC, he explained.

When rates were first established, they were based on the value of the service offered and the policy was followed for many years. When interstate trucking got a start, trucking firms aimed for the high value commodities.

Truck rates were not regulated at first and even now only common carriers are regulated. A contract carrier still can fix his own rate, the speaker asserted.

Reebel explained the nation developed along waterways first because water was the only means of bulk transportation. Following the Civil War, railroads entered an expansion period that continued until 1910.

To speed the country's development, the government gave railroads land grants, the majority of them west of the Mississippi. A string was attached to the grants, however, since railroads had to haul government passengers and freight free for the first few years and then were allowed to charge only half the rate until 1946. The railroads paid back about nine times the value of the lands they received, the speaker continued.

He was introduced by Jay Armbruster, program chairman.

Terry Reese and Tate Hilbert, high school seniors, were guests.

Members were reminded of the Rubinoff concert Dec. 8 at Westgate School by Howard Tice, general chairman. A matinee will be presented in the afternoon.

Don Baxter, president, announced plans have been launched for the club's annual children's Christmas party. A zone meeting will be held Wednesday in Lisbon.

State Changes Hearing Date On Lake Road

A public hearing on the proposed route of the Ohio River - Lake Erie Freeway, originally scheduled Nov. 25 at Warren, has been postponed until Thursday, Dec. 4, the State Highway Department revealed today.

The hearing was postponed in order to allow enough time for the necessary publication of legal notices, which are required three weeks in advance. The meeting site is unchanged — the Packard Music Hall at Warren. It will start at 1 p. m.

The meeting is the public hearing that law requires before the state can decide officially to go ahead with the first stages of construction. Linking East Liverpool and Ashtabula, the highway is designed to expedite trans-shipments between river and lake ports and help accommodate the heavier volume of freight that is expected with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The original hearing date was announced by the state about a month ago.

The Board of Trustees of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce voted Tuesday to send a delegation to the meeting. The trustees also voted approval of the proposed route.

Atty. Francis H. Lang is chairman of the Lake Erie - Ohio River Highway Association, an Eastern Ohio organization formed to urge the necessity for the highway's construction. Atty. Lang also is chairman of the roads and streets committee of the Chamber and the highway committee of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council.

Construction of the freeway stage nearest to East Liverpool is expected in the 1959-60 biennium of the Highway Department. Following the approximate course of Route 30, the four - lane improvement will stretch from the city limits to the intersection of the Y. & O. Rd.

Secretary For Salem Chamber To Quit Post

U.S. Operation Seen Unless Rails Get Aid

Lions Speaker Says Carriers Investment Return 'Ridiculous'

"Unless the nation's railroads get help, the lines eventually will have to be operated by the government," a veteran railroad official predicted in an address to the Lions Club Friday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

Rex P. Reebel, Erie Railroad freight agent at Warren and railroader for 40 years, declared, "The average return for railroads on their investment is under 4 per cent, which is ridiculous." Utilities receive at least 6 per cent, he continued.

The railroads would like to see their competitors — trucks, airlines and users of inland waterways — pay more for what they receive, Reebel said. He explained the railroads built the Union Terminal in Washington at a cost of $23 million, pay the operating costs and $650,000 in taxes yearly. At the same time, the Washington National Airport was constructed by the government at a cost of $32 million and while airlines pay a fee it is not sufficient to meet the operating costs.

The government spends millions yearly on inland waterways, widening and deepening channels and constructing new dams to speed navigation but the users, with a few exceptions, don't pay a penny, he asserted.

"Waterways traditionally have been free but should they remain free when the government spends huge sums yearly to maintain them?", Reebel asked.

The nation's highways are valued at $50 billion and additional $33 billion is being spent on the new federal road program. Tax money will be used for the construction but only a small percentage of it will come from license fees and gasoline taxes, he said.

The railroads applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for lower rates so they could compete but the ICC refused. A new transportation act is supposed to see some changes but cases still are pending before the ICC, he explained.

When rates were first established, they were based on the value of the service offered and the policy was followed for many years. When interstate trucking got a start, trucking firms aimed for the high value commodities.

Truck rates were not regulated at first and even now only common carriers are regulated. A contract carrier still can fix his own rate, the speaker asserted.

Reebel explained the nation developed along waterways first because water was the only means of bulk transportation. Following the Civil War, railroads entered an expansion period that continued until 1910.

To speed the country's development, the government gave railroads land grants, the majority of them west of the Mississippi. A string was attached to the grants, however, since railroads had to haul government passengers and freight free for the first few years and then were allowed to charge only half the rate until 1946. The railroads paid back about nine times the value of the lands they received, the speaker continued.

He was introduced by Jay Armbruster, program chairman.

Terry Reese and Tate Hilbert, high school seniors, were guests.

Members were reminded of the Rubinoff concert Dec. 8 at Westgate School by Howard Tice, general chairman. A matinee will be presented in the afternoon.

Don Baxter, president, announced plans have been launched for the club's annual children's Christmas party. A zone meeting will be held Wednesday in Lisbon.

State Changes Hearing Date On Lake Road

A public hearing on the proposed route of the Ohio River - Lake Erie Freeway, originally scheduled Nov. 25 at Warren, has been postponed until Thursday, Dec. 4, the State Highway Department revealed today.

The hearing was postponed in order to allow enough time for the necessary publication of legal notices, which are required three weeks in advance. The meeting site is unchanged — the Packard Music Hall at Warren. It will start at 1 p. m.

The meeting is the public hearing that law requires before the state can decide officially to go ahead with the first stages of construction. Linking East Liverpool and Ashtabula, the highway is designed to expedite trans-shipments between river and lake ports and help accommodate the heavier volume of freight that is expected with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The original hearing date was announced by the state about a month ago.

The Board of Trustees of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce voted Tuesday to send a delegation to the meeting. The trustees also voted approval of the proposed route.

Atty. Francis H. Lang is chairman of the Lake Erie - Ohio River Highway Association, an Eastern Ohio organization formed to urge the necessity for the highway's construction. Atty. Lang also is chairman of the roads and streets committee of the Chamber and the highway committee of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council.

Construction of the freeway stage nearest to East Liverpool is expected in the 1959-60 biennium of the Highway Department. Following the approximate course of Route 30, the four - lane improvement will stretch from the city limits to the intersection of the Y. & O. Rd.

Secretary For Salem Chamber To Quit Post
